

The U.S. Department of Education has announced four new grant programs to address school safety and improve access to mental health services. These programs are intended to support recommendations identified in the final report issued by the Federal Commission on School Safety.

The four grant programs are:

- The Trauma Recovery Demonstration Grant Program
- The Mental Health Demonstration Grant Program
- Project Prevent
- The School Climate Transformation Grant Program

Additional information can be found here.