The First Week of School Reunites Students

by: Sophie Kranhold

After three months of vacation, the students have spent in different places, the first week of school started on Tuesday, Aug. 21 at Northwestern High School in Mellette, S.D., at temperatures of 80 degrees.

Eleven new students were welcomed: Stephanie Hansen (11th), Sophie-Luisa Kranhold (11th, Foreign Exchange Student from Germany), Brittany Bublitz (9th), Christian Warcken (8th), Hunter Neiber (7th), Ashlyn Warcken (5th), Jerad Burge (5th), Jaiden Lewison (5th), Meadow Monroe Remily (3rd), Chase Neiber (2nd) and James Bergalowski (1st).

In addition, the staff grew with new staff members:

Mrs. Kari Brenner (K-12 counselor), Mrs. Crystal Nash (Special Education & 8th grade history), Mrs. Kayla Sparling (paraprofessional), Mr. Jason Sparling (Head Girls Basketball Coach), Mr. Kevin

Nash (Mansfield Area bus driver) and Michaela Kotz (Kitchen Cook).

The teachers began the school day for 250 students (K-5 enrollment 116, 6-8 enrollment 48, 9-12 enrollment 88) again.

The lunch this year has changed with healthier food and smaller portions. Students kindergarten through 5th grade receive 650 calories; 6th-8th, 700 calories; highschool, 850 calories. NW lunch program is serving more fresh fruits and vegetables, more whole grain items and less fat. The students may go back for seconds at a cost of .50 per entrée.

The first week of school, teachers and students said they felt the heat. Mr. Ray Sauerwein, superintendent, decided to let school out early for three days. Despite the hot conditions, most of the students were happy to see their friends again after the long summer break.

Seniors Kimberly Miles and Calli Peterson smile to their last first day of high school.

What's New at Northwestern

by: Jordan Peterson

For the 2012-2013 school year, Northwestern High School has upgraded and had major improvements to the way they operate with many things, especially a new bus. The bus holds 65 passengers and is a great asset to the school. NW needed this bus to accommodate the children who ride the bus to and from school, as well as the students who participate in athletic activities.

Another commodity the school has added is its new security system. The school has installed a great deal of new security cameras as well as new locks on the doors. The new cameras are placed in both gyms and in all the hallways, but the classrooms have none. Installation went well for these units and will help the school system protect the students. These devices have encouraged kids to behave better in school. This is most likely a result of the knowledge of the camera's presence. The students will be less likely to behave improperly when they know they could be watched.

In addition to the new bus and security system, the school has also invested in new computers for the freshman class. These computers are tablets with a wireless keyboard. This is all inside a small case that the students carry from class to class. These handy devices are useful to the students in many ways. They contain most of the textbooks that the freshmen need, and much of their homework can be completed on the computers and transferred to teachers through email or Dropbox. Due to the unusually large size of the class (34 students), a wireless lab or a computer lab with 25 computers cannot accommodate them.

Students Participate in Homecoming Fun

by: Maddie #ahler

Homecoming week at Northwestern went extremely well! On Monday, students had Pajama Day/Buddy Day, which is always a big hit. After the school day was coronation and powder puff football. Tuesday was Vampire (Sparkle)/Camo Day. On Wednesday, the junior high and high school had a "Northwestern Zombie Apocalypse." Thursday was Costume Day and Friday was, of course, Spirit Day and the day of the parade.

Buddy Day is always a great day for the freshmen and the seniors. A huge variety of outfits were visible for all of the high school and middle school to gawk at. Some freshmen were dressed in dresses like freshman Logan Schentzel. Monday night, the girls' powderpuff football game was held. The white team won this year.

Jake Groft and Kimberly Miles won homecoming king and queen.

On Tuesday, the dodge ball tournament was held. For high school, the winners were seniors Ray Lerew, Shay Clemensen, Ashley Clemens, Kelsey Hoellein, and Kaitlyn Sparling, along with junior Nate Palmer. The middle school winners included eighth-graders Derek Boekelheide, Josie Clemens, Darby Duncan, Andrew Lefforge, and Dawson Smith, also included in this team were seventh-grader Addison Sparling and sixth-grader Caleb Schentzel.

For something different, the seniors decided to put on a Northwestern Zombie Apocalypse! Many teachers and students found this very interesting and exciting. The winners of this apocalypse were junior Alyssa Steward, senior Trevor Rush, eighth-grader Derek Boekelheide, senior Jake Groft and sixth-grader Jarret Haven.

The parade on Friday went extremely well. Approximately 40 floats were driven through the parade this year. The sophomore class won the float competition with its "Cats of the Corn" themed float.

Is "ICU" (Intensive Care Unit) the best way to ensure student success?

Pro...

by: Haley Grandpre

Intensive Care Unit, also known as ICU, is a great idea. This will help the students at Northwestern. Giving the students reminders and chances to get their homework done, the ICU will be a great addition to the school. The ICU lists are posted here in the hallways at school. These lists show all students what assignment for which class they may be missing. Teachers email and text parents whose children fail to finish their homework or who are not in class to turn in their work.

Last year, NW gave "study tables." The study tables were always abused by the students; but with the ICU, there is no way of getting out of it. It is unacceptable to not have your homework done. Just imagine if nobody did their homework, nothing would be learned or accomplished in school.

Students do not like being told all the time that they are on the ICU list. Well, then, they should turn their assignments in on time. If you do not like the teachers telling you non stop, then this will be a way to make sure you are never on the ICU list. It is a helpful reminder to make sure you do your homework, and get it turned in on time.

The ICU program comes in handy when you are out sick. It will tell you what you need to turn into the teachers. Most of the teachers believe that this will help the students know what they need to turn into them.

There are many pros to this new way of approaching unfinished work. The lists are posted, parents are informed, and it has been pretty organized so far. Most teachers and students think this will be good for Northwestern.

Con...

by: Maddie Hahler

Intensive Care Unit (ICU) is a new way of taking care of students' unfinished homework. I, for one, agree with this new way of handling the situation, but there are some students who do not.

Some students feel uncomfortable seeing their name and numerous undone assignments posted for all to see. Many people will approach this and say something like, "well they should just get it done." However some students could possibly be well-off students and simply fall behind. They may be extremely embarrassed and perhaps even made fun of on account of this matter.

The intensive care unit was made for students who need help knowing what they are missing and to inform their parents. Some students may, in a sense, freak out when their parent/guardian is called about their missing assignments. It may be a simple misunderstanding with the teacher, but the parent is to be informed as soon as possible. Yes, many students may use this as an excuse on a daily basis; I am just using it as an example.

This homecoming week, some students were even kept away from the homecoming fun to complete their work because they were on this list. I find this completely fair, but many students have told me they find it unfair.

Students and teachers are hoping that this new approach to complete all homework will be efficient and effective. So far, it has done fairly well, but it is only the first couple weeks.

What Do You Think?

"I think the jury is still out," said Mr. Scott Boone.

"No, because it is embarrassing being on a list. Then everyone can see it," said Freshman Kirstin Borge.

"I hate it with a passion" said seventh-grader Isaac Bauer.

"When my dad first got the text, he thought I was in the hospital. I don't like ICU, but I do get my homework done after that," eighth-grader Dawson Smith said.

"Yes, because our youth are lazy nowadays, so this will make them be responsible, whether they like it or not. It will also help their grades, so they get assignments done..." senior Landon Fischbach said.

What Music Should You Listen To?

Justin Bieber

by Julia Sparling

Justin Drew Bieber was born on March 1, 1994 to Pattie Mallette and Jeremy Bieber. Justin's parents divorced when he was 10 months old. He never had any voice lessons, guitar lessons, piano lessons, drumming lessons, or trumpet lessons but he could do all of them by the time he was 8. When he was 15 years old, he was discovered on YouTube by Scooter Braun who is now his manager. He was signed in 2009 and made his first single "One time" in July of that year. He charted 15 hit songs in less than two years. The song "Baby" peaked at #5 on the Billboard Hot 100 in 2010 and was ultimately certified double platinum for sales.

Justin has 49 songs as of today. His last album, "Believe," has just gone platinum. The number one song from the album, "Boyfriend," was co-written and produced by Mike Posner. He also made a short film of the song "As Long as You Love Me" that was a huge hit.

I find Justin Bieber's music inspirational. Almost every song has the fast beat and catchy lyrics that everyone loves. Well done, Justin Bieber.

Taylor Swift

by Hannah Palmer

Taylor Swift is one of my favorite artists! I believe she tell her story through her lyrics! She tells the truth, and describes real life situations.

Taylor always seems to have the perfect song for the perfect situation! Swift has won many awards through her career. She is just beginning her career, and has a long, successful life ahead of her!

I believe that if Swift keeps making songs that people can relate to, she should be fine in the music industry. Taylor grew up on a farm and can relate to city people as farm people!

She is a genuine good person, and her voice just adds to her! Taylor has been winning over people's hearts since May 17, 2009, all the way to the current day!

She has just created a number one titled "We are never ever ever getting back together." She has improved with her lyrics, and hopefully will stick around for awhile!

What Movie Do You Need To See?

by Hannah Palmer

21 Jump Street was a hilarious movie! Johan Hill and Channing Tatum were the main stars in this movie, and they are quite the comedy team. This action-packed film was not only suspenseful, but full of comedy!

It starts off with two, young high school students that don't necessarily like each other. As they grow up, they end up becoming under cover spies that raid a high school searching for a supply of drugs. If you want a movie that will keep you at the edge of your seats, but also keep you laughing I would try 21 Jump Street!

This movie has a 4star rating on www.rottentomatoes.com. Rolling Stones magazine says, "laugh all you want!"

Shay's Words of Advice to the Freshmen

by: Shay Clemensen

Since I have now been in high school for four long years, I have mastered the ways of this school. I have figured out the tricks to surviving high school... barely. Since you freshmen are new to the system, I better help you newbies survive within these walls. When I started freshman year, I took health and wellness, which was a mistake. I found out that if you take health and wellness your first year you get annihilated in dodge ball. When we played dodge ball, it was freshmen versus all. It got to be a slaughter fest. Your best plan is to take it senior year, so you can pick on the little freshmen. That was one mistake that I made.
