

INTEREST ASSESSMENT

As you explore careers, you should know what skills, talents and personality traits you bring to the workplace. Assessments are fun tools that help you discover what you like and dislike, what you're good at, and how well your interests match up to different careers.

STEP 1:

Read each statement on page 5. If you agree, fill in the corresponding square.

No matter what your age, you'll benefit from taking the time to consider what you like, what you're good at, your values and whether your job options are making the best use of your talents.

If any assessment gives you a list of careers that is not interesting to you or that you'd never seriously considered, don't panic. You should always take a few assessments, talk with a career counselor, and discuss your options with family and friends before making your career decision. The overall goal of an assessment is to get you thinking about careers that you might enjoy.

The interest assessment located on the next page is based on Holland's Interest Inventory. When you're finished, you'll have an interest profile that matches your interests to career clusters. If you already know your Holland Interest Profile, you can jump ahead to Step 3. If not, take this quick assessment now.

The MnCareers interest assessment is just one of many options. To the right is a list of other assessments available.

CareerOneStop

Online Career Tools include the "Skills Profiler" to gauge what skills you have that interest employers. Also, use the "Employability Check-Up" tool to see which jobs require your current education and skill levels.

STEP 2:

Add the columns from the previous page and record the number of filled boxes for each letter to the right.

R = REALISTIC Total: _____

I = INVESTIGATIVE Total: _____

A = ARTISTIC Total: _____

S = SOCIAL Total: _____

E = ENTERPRISING Total: _____

C = CONVENTIONAL Total: _____

STEP 3:

The three letters with the highest scores are your Interest Profile. Record your profile to the right.

MY INTEREST PROFILE:

STEP 4:

To the right are descriptions for each interest code. Read the descriptions for the codes in your Interest Profile.

REALISTIC people are DOERS. They are often good at mechanical or athletic jobs. They like to work with things like machines, tools or plants and they like to work with their hands. They are often practical and good at solving problems.

INVESTIGATIVE people are THINKERS. They like to watch, learn, analyze and solve problems. They often like to work independently, tend to be good at math and science and enjoy analyzing data.

ARTISTIC people are CREATORS. They like to work in unstructured situations where they can use their creativity and come up with new ideas. They enjoy performing (theater or music) and visual arts.

SOCIAL people are HELPERS. They like to work directly with people rather than things. They enjoy training, instructing, counseling or curing others. They are often good public speakers with helpful, empathetic personalities.

ENTERPRISING people are PERSUADERS. They like to work with other people; they particularly enjoy influencing, persuading and performing. They like to lead and tend to be assertive and enthusiastic.

CONVENTIONAL people are ORGANIZERS. They are very detail oriented and like to work with data. They have good organizational and numerical abilities and are good at following instructions. Conventional people also like working in structured situations.
