Senior Report

It is only as the four short years that we have spent in the Clay County High School draw to a close that we begin to realize what they have meant to us.

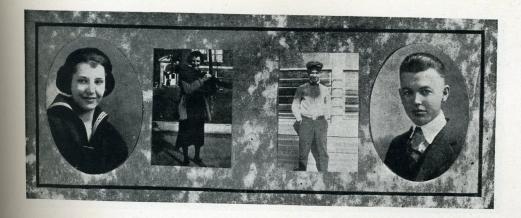

We have enjoyed every day that we have been here, not only in our work but also in our play. We have engaged in many activities—athletics, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., the different musical organizations and clubs, debates and the plays that have been staged at different times.

We know now that the school is not made up of us only, but all the classes that have gone before us have contributed of their personalities to the school spirit. Realizing this we hope that you, the Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors of next year, will remember this and always be loyal to C. C. H. S. that it may always be the best school in the world.

CLASS HISTORY

In September, 1917, eighty-eight young people of Clay County, after being duly examined and having performed certain requirements, set sail in the good ship, C. C. H. S., for a voyage on the sea of Knowledge. The voyage was to be completed and the ship turned over to another crew at the end of four years.

Now, Mr. Allbaugh was Manager of the Training Board and held himself responsible for the training of the crew. There were also on board a number of old and experienced sailors, who had seen many years before the Mast. They answered the roll by the names of: Crittenden, Graham, Cellars, Cavin, Alexander, West, DeWitt, Powell, Ruhlandt, Ramsey, Holcomb, and Vetter.

The first year Miss DeWitt was appointed captain and the crew chose one George Hanna, a native of the Emerald Isle, for first mate. With these able officers in charge and a willing though untried crew the good ship weighed anchor one bright, clear morning and sailed away with her famous red and white flag flying from her mast head.

It might be said that the first few days were the most trying of the entire voyage. The old sailors were kept constantly busy assigning the green sailors to their posts and seeing that they found their proper places, as they did not know stem from stern. It was also necessary to put them wise to the malicious pranks of sailors who had already a year or two of experience. Although these immediate troubles were soon overcome, some became entangled in the ropes of Algebra or were washed overboard by the heavy seas of Latin I.

The second year's voyage was begun with a slightly smaller crew, as several of the sailors had deserted, swimming back to land one calm night when the lookout was asleep at his post in the Crow's Nest. The remainder of the crew had become quite expert in handling the ship. Good work was done by individual sailors in steering clear of the shoals of Ancient History and Geometry.

Now it happened that certain members of the crew showed great skill in the game of Basketball. Accordingly a great tournament was held on the quarter deck, in which all comers were defeated except a team picked from the Seniors, who were the oldest and most advanced class of seamen under training. One morning the lookout discovered a small floating object, which Captain Means viewed through the ship's binoculars and pronounced to be a French orphan adrift in a salt barrel—the work of the Captain of some German U-boat. The orphan was picked up, adopted by the crew and tenderly cared for.

The crew was saddened by the loss of their brave captain, who had in the meantime been chosen by the Seniors. The sailors elected Miss Schmidt, under whose efficient guidance the ship came through the second year's voyage successfully.

When the voyage of the third year was begun a new Manager of the Training Board was in office—Mr. Robb, who, it was rumored, had served under Magellan and later commanded a ship on the Spanish Main.

For this part of the voyage Miss Means was again chosen captain, and Art Maxwell first mate. The weather remained fair and the ship sailed on without mishap. With the return of spring the Captain and ship's crew leld a festival on the shores of Five Creeks. Here they were molested by divers people and a mighty battle ensued, in which the attackers were totally routed. Now it was deemed wise that the ship's company should display their dramatic ability, so a theatrical was given in the forecastle. A slight admission fee was charged and the proceeds used to finance a sumptuous two course banquet of salt horse and plum duff given in honor of the Seniors. And the third year was ended.

The fourth and last year of the voyage was made under Captain Vergades and first mate Pinkerton. This year was full of the excitement common on board ship that is about to reach harbor. A terrible hurricane of American History was the worst obstacle encountered, but the ship weathered the gale. On April first a great picnic was held; and their prowess being well known, none cared to interrupt them.

In due time port was reached. The crew disembarked, glad that the voyage was finished, but proud of their achievement, and ready for another voyage.

JUNIORS REPORT

To misquote Shakespeare: All the school's a stage, and all the boys and girls are merely players.

But all of us are not players. Some of us compose the orchestra, which furnishes all kinds of music from the beautiful harmony of the classical selections to the mad whirl of the jazz and the dismal wail of the Barber Shop Quartet. Others are the audience who watch the players, enjoying or criticising as the case may be. There are also the ones who give the vaudeville stunts between as it will bring.

During the first act most of the actors in the play are introduced. Some play their parts very aptly, others well, and a few poorly. As the play progresses we find that many have dropped out and understudies have come in. The work is new to them but they soon learn and do their parts as well as the others. The play is progressing in a fine manner. The curtain has fallen at the end of the third act and the audience has shown its applause.

Now the audience is hushed. What will the fourth act bring? Will it bring a tragedy or a comedy? For some it may be a tragedy but most of us are looking forward to a comedy. Some will forget their parts and the prompters who have helped us previously and probably some new ones will help us out. All of us are anxiously awaiting the rising of the curtain on the fourth act and the many thingets.

SOPHOMORE REPORT

The Sophomore class is one of which C. C. H. S. may well be proud. The class is well represented in all lines of athletics and in the different musical organizations as well as in the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A.

We have gone through a year of hard study although those who are much the worse for it are scarce. Still it was hard enough that perhaps one might recall waking up after an unsuccessful search for the unknown, or with the feeling of the sharp blade of the guillotine on the neck, or even in the midst of an English quiz.

But in spite of this, in the future it will be a pleasure to look back over the days of bloodshed in history, the mysteries of geometry, or even the honors of English, in dear old C. C. H. S.

FRESHMAN REPORT

The class of 1924 has arrived at the Clay County High School and even if we are green we will at least try with our large class to make this the best class ever harbored here.

By the good results we have already obtained in athletics, music departments, all-school play, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., we have a clear harbor for it. We have many trials and we do our best in mastering them.

Though we are just beginners we see our class of 1924 will be one of the best that ever did or will emerge from the Clay County High School.

THE ART DEPARTMENT

The Art Department of the Clay County High School has shown marked improvement this year in size and range of subjects taught.

Art I. is devoted to normal training work which includes construction and the choosing of appropriate pictures for the grades and their presentation to the pupils.

Art II. takes up art as applied to the home; furnishing rooms, working out color schemes and the selection of suitable pictures.

The advanced art classes apply their original designs in the forms of stenciling, enameling, basketry, and china painting.

Art appreciation which is also taught deals with old masters and modern painters, their lives, styles and pictures.

-B. BOOKER.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Our Music Department under the direction of Mr. Steininger has been larger this year than ever before. There are so many pupils enrolled for private music lessons that it has been necessary to have an assistant, Mrs. Vergades.

The different musical organizations are as follows: The Girls' Chorus, The Boys' Glee Club, Orchestra, Girls' Sextette, Boys' Quartette, The Boys' Band, and the Saxaphone Sextette.

C. C. H. S. has been very proud of her Boys' Band this year. It has put the pep into the basketball games and pep meetings. It has also been a great help in advertising our school.

All of our musical organizations have added interest and spirit to our school work. We all hope that the Music Department will continue to be one of the biggest factors in the life of C. C. H. S.

Domestic Science

We have eighty girls enrolled in this work and it has been a very successful term.

The first three days of each week were devoted to cooking while the last two days were spent reciting on the text "Food Study" by Wellmon.

Practical demonstrations of this work were shown by the different classes serving five o'clock dinners to one another. We also learned suitable menus for both formal and informal dinners.

Miss Brown has been here two years and in that time has improved the department to a great extent, due to the interest she has taken in the work.

-VIRGIL BELIN.

Domestic Art

The Domestic Art girls have this year made better headway than ever before, which is due partly to the fine equipment the Domestic Art room has.

The first year girls made undergarments and dresses. They studied lines and colors suitable to themselves and designed dresses accordingly.

The second year girls made woolen and silk dresses, and some made coats. They did a great deal of fancy work, which included monograms on the school napkins.

The combined efforts of the classes kept the football and basketball unfiorms in good condition.

—WINIFRED DINGMAN.

Normal Training Department

The Normal Training Department of the Clay County High School affords the best training possible for students who intend to teach school in addition to the regular subjects there are: Construction, Story Telling, and Nature Study offered for a year, giving full credit to them as one subject. The Nature Study work consists of acquiring knowledge of the habits and habitations of birds and frogs; the composition of algae and fungi, and the division of flowers. The classes are now capable of distinguishing trees by the bark and leaves.

The construction work is: sand table work, poster making, weaving of caps and baskets, and paper folding. The Story Telling is very interesting and will be of use to the students when teaching.

The Freshman Normal Training students have done some excellent work in Art and Manual Training. The fundamental principles in woodwork are learned which will enable them to teach the scholars how to make various articles from wood. This will increase the interest in school work and will help greatly.

The number of students enrolled in the Normal Training Course of the Clay County High School is increasing every year. The department is now one of the largest in the state.

To Miss Cellars with her untiring energy, skill and efficiency, we owe the progress of this department.

—BESSIE FORSYTHE.

The Commercial Department

The Commercial Department of the Clay County High School offers excellent opportunity for training for positions in secretarial work, accounting and salesmanship. The secretarial course combines shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, office training, business English, and penmanship.

Besides this, training is given in the use of the dictaphone and mimeograph. The bookkeeping course extends into advanced accounting and banking and also teaches commercial law. The psychology of salesmanship is especially interesting and practical because a knowledge of this subject is a valuable asset to any kind of business man or woman.

Because of the increasing number of pupils, in this course, the department has been enlarged by using part of the library for a typewriting room and putting the bank into the old typewriting room.

Forty diplomas were awarded to penmanship students by the Palmer School of Penmanship. The Freshman enrollment in the Commercial Course numbered seventy for the fall of 1920.

Vocational Agriculture

With this volume of the "Orange and Black" the Department of Vocational Agriculture makes its debut as an important department in the Clay County High School. It was started in the fall of 1919 and gradually increased in strength until its present enrollment totals twenty-three.

This department fills a unique place in the educational world inasmuch as it is not intended as a substitute high school course nor is it intended to prepare one to enter college; but it is a vocational department intended to make our young farmers more efficient workers and producers. For the boy who intends to remain on the farm this is the ideal course.

The students are supplied with adequate equipment to carry on their various experiments and research work. Thus the students have a rare privilege of gaining a practical education.

During the past year the boys in this department started an Agricultural Society that has been a wonderful success and closed the year with a splendid father-son banquet.

From these brief facts the reader will see that although this department is the youngest in C. C. H. S., it is making such rapid advancement that it promises to be the strongest department in the school.

—W. G. BRUCE.

ORGANISHTIONS -

y. W. C. A. Cabinet

y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. has completed another very successful year, being the second one of this organization. We started out with one hundred per cent membership and in all undertakings have endeavored to keep up to this standard.

Last fall at the beginning of school a committee from the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. helped the new students to enroll. Besides our interesting meetings which we had each week, we had numerous other good times, such as an all school party given the first week of school, a banquet in honor of the football boys under the auspices of both the Y. W. and Y. M., a picnic, a gym frolic and Mothers and Daughters tea.

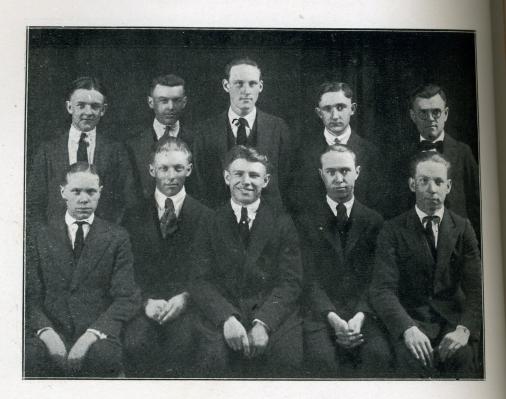

The organization raised from candy, popcorn and cake sales, and a picture show over $244.00 besides pledging and raising $30.00 for keeping a missionary in China. Our expenditures for the year have been about $217.00, leaving $86.00 for the summer conference. Last summer we were able to send four girls to the Field Conference at Estes Park, a trip which is a wonderful experience for the girls, Estes Park being one of the most beautiful parts of Colorado. To the winter conference at Manhattan twenty girls went from here as delegates.

Although this has been a most satisfactory year we hope that the following year will be still more prosperous.

-LUCILE MARTIN.

y. M. C. A. Cabinet

y. M. C. A.

Although only in its second year of existence, the Y. M. C. A. of C. C. H. S. took its place among the others of the state and ranked as one of the strongest.

Every boy in school was a member and took an active part in the organization's activities. The regular meetings were held on Wednesday during the chapel hour, 10:00 to 10:30. A Bible study class was held every Tuesday during the same hour under the direction of Mrs. Siewart. These classes were voluntarily attended by every member and lasted for twelve weeks.

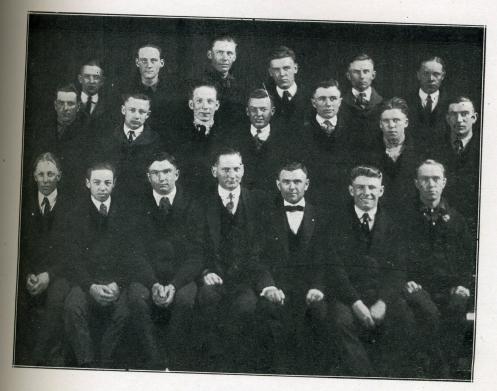

In outside activities the organization made a record unexcelled by any other organization in the state. In the drive made to obtain money for building a hut at the state camp at Elmdale, the required quota, $300, was raised in two days, the best record of any Hi-Y in the state.

Soon after school started a stag party was held for the purpose of helping the freshmen get acquainted. Just after the close of the football season, the squad was given a banquet to which the whole school was invited. This was put on by the Y. W. and Y. M. together and was held in the domestic science room. The last social event was a "Father and Son" banquet put on April 27. This was held in the dining room of the Methodist church.

President - - - Lyle Read

Vice-President - - George Hanna

Secretary-Treasurer - William Manwarren

The C-Club was organized by the boys of the high school who have secured letters from some branch of athletics, and by Mr. Vergades and Mr. Bruce. It was organized to promote better athletics in the Clay County High School. A high standard in athletics cannot be obtained except through clean sportsmanship, and the proper kind of spirit. To establish such is the purpose of the C-Club. This will be carried out in part, by the club, in entertaining the visiting teams.

The charter members consist of those who have made their letters during the school year of 1919-1920. Every member is required to pay dues and is initiated into the club. Those who have been regular members of the club become honorary members when they leave school.

Mr. Guest and Mr. Bocakos have been elected honorary members of the club.

ATHLETIC5

ATHLETICS

C. C. H. S. came out with a remarkable score this year in football, having lost only one game during the entire season. In basketball and track we also made a very fine showing.

These wonderful results are due largely to the exceptional work done by our splendid coaches, Mr. Vergades and Mr. Bruce.

COACHES
Mr. Vergades and Mr. Bruce

Lyle proved to be one of the best captains Clay has ever had. His good fighting spirit, and excellent judgment in piloting the team, won much admiration from the football fans. In offensive play he always made big gains. At safety he never missed his man. Lyle will be in his old place again next year. Three year letter man.

This was Walt's first year, but his ability to carry the pigskin for big gains put fear in the hearts of his opponents. The wonderful progress he made this year gives us great hope for him next year. One year letter man.

WALTER WHITE Right Half

"Unc" was one of the best consistent players who fought for old C. C. H. S. this year. In offensive play he always made big gains, and in defensive he was a sure tackler. Two year letter man.

FRANK COWELL Fullback

'Hank" made the largest per cent of the touchdowns this year. He was an exceptionally good open field runner. Next year Hank ought to make one of the best back field men Clay has ever had. Two year letter man.

Duck proved to be an efficient center. He is a good passer, and on the defensive he always manages to break through the opponents' line. One year letter man.

ELMER DUCK Center

Ben learned the game of football quicker than any other man on the team. He steadily climbed to the front. At the end of the season he was one of the best linemen on the team. We predict a big year for him next year.

BEN HENDERSON Right Guard

On account of his knee Hanna was kept out of many of the games, but when he did play he was hard to beat. The backfield could always depend upon him to make space for a plunge. The opponents seldom made a successful gain through his side of the line. One year letter man.

MERLE THOMAS Right Tackle

Tommie was always on the job, fighting and urging his team mates to fight harder. He has the record of making more clean tackles than any other man on the team. His punting was supreme. He very seldom failed to kick goal after a touchdown was made. We will miss Tommie greatly next year. Three year letter man.

Bill was strong on both defensive and offensive play. He was "jack of all positions," playing at guard, tackle, end, and fullback. He played superior football in all of his regular positions. Two year letter man.

Don was new at the game, but he proved his worth before the season was over. He played exceptionally well on defensive, making many spectacular tackles. We will miss him next year. One year letter man.

"Chick' was always full of the "old fight." He did much to make his end of the line a success. The opponents made very few successful plays around his end. He earned the reputation of being the "peppiest" man on the team. Two year letter man.

It is said that it is harder to sit on the side lines than to play. John was in such a position. But when he got to play he satisfied. Two year letter man.

CHARLES McMURRY

JOHN GAYLORD

Mac was bothered with a "Charley Horse" during a large part of the season. But in spite of this handicap he played hard, consistent football when he was on the field. One year letter man.

Through hard, constant work, Pete proved himself worthy of a letter. We predict a big year for Pete next year. One year letter man.

EUGENE PETERMEYER

RALPH REID

This was Ralph's first year at football but he developed into an excellent player. Three more years ought to make him an All-State man. One year letter man.

"Mach's" experience and fight made him our most feared linesman by his opponents. He never had an opponent who could push him back and he could always be depended upon to open a place for his own backs. He knew how to think in an emergency and helped steady the team in a tight place. Three year letter man.

MERLE THOMAS

Captain—Center Forward

"Tommy" was a very able center and forward this year. He played equally well at center and forward and was one of the mediums through which C. C. H. S. worked so many wonders with the basket. This was Tommy's first letter year on the basketball team.

FRANK COWELL

Guard

"Hank" was another of Clay's expert fighting machines. He played guard and made it, with Hanna, impossible for the opponents to get a goal from anywhere near the goal. Of all the C. C. H. S. players, "Hank" worked the most. He certainly made it easy for the forwards. This is "Hank's" first letter.

ARTHUR MAXWELL

"Art" played a very good game at forward and could easily be depended upon to make the extra two points when they were needed. He had extra good floor-work, and when needed, all the guards had to do was to throw the ball in the most likely direction and Art would get it. This is his first letter.

ROYAL ROHRDANZ

Center

Of course 'Shorty's' somewhat shortened figure helped him greatly at jumping center, but his superior playing was also desirable. Shorty, being well over the six feet high, generally had the reach over his opponents, but he covered the floor with the greatest speed, and his playing was exceptional. This is his second letter and we hope it will not be his last.

GEORGE HANNA

"Dave" played a very good game at guard and we can truthfully say that he is one of the best guards ever at C. C. H. S. Very few were the opposing forwards who could safely evade him. "Dave" never missed a minute of play and greatly deserved his letter which was his second.

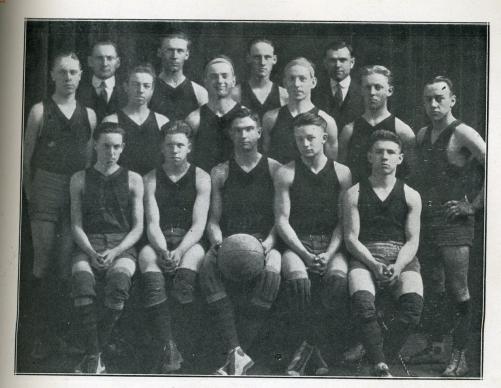

DON MEEK

There's no use in saying anything about "Unc," for he is an all around athlete and everyone knows that he is a wonderful player. At forward, "Unc" was the most reliable man for team-work. This is "Unc's" first letter.

WALTER WHITE

Forward

If "Walt" made a showing last year at guard, we cannot express what he did this year at forward. He was so lucky, or, rather, so accurate, that whenever he got a shot which had half a chance, two points were added to Clay County's score. This is White's first letter.

THE DOCTOR PRESCRIBES

I was sick and I was ailing, I was surely, swiftly paling,
I never felt so bad in all my days,

So I hied me to a doctor, a famous dope concoctor, And told him all about me—every phase.

He listened quite intently, but at last he murmured gently:

"My boy, I understand you through and through;

What you need is relaxation and a long emancipation From the work that you are trying now to do."

"You also need a tonic." (He said this quite laconic). A tonic that will build your system up, So here's a fine prescription which will beggar all description;

A glassful take each time before you sup."

I thanked him most sincerely—and I also paid him dearly— Then I beat it for the street and for my home;

When I reached my habitation I poured out a small libation, And Holy Smoke! the way that stuff did foam!

But I forthwith drank the small one, then I followed with a tall one, Pretty soon I felt like shouting hip hooray!

Now what the doctor gave me, I just couldn't say to save me, But I've never been without it to this day.

Clothes for Younger Men

EMBODY ALL THAT IS NEW

In these days, to be modern, you must keep abreast of present day progress. Campus Togs are among the leaders in this respect. They stand for the ultimate in clothes building. Every modern idea is embodied in them. Their distinctive style and character emphasize the fact that htis idea has been dominant in their making. They are modern clothes for the modern young man.

MAKE THE WORLD

GIVE WAY

The world has veer given way for the man who has an idea and sticks to it with a tenacity of purpose from which nothing can move him.

How can anyone lack confidence in the young man who has a real purpose in life, who pays strict attention to his daily tasks, who takes a loyal interest in his employer's business, who lives within his income and saves a reasonable portion of his earnings to be banked? Mark such men well; they are the backbone of this Nation; the builders of business and makers of homes. They are always welcome at this bank; such as they always have a borrowing credit here.

The Peoples National Bank

Operated under supervision of the United States Government.

To the business management of the football and basket-ball teams and the business managements of other student activities of the county High School, we wish to express our appreciation for the many window cards, tickets of admission, programs and other jobs of printing which have been brought to this office to be printed. The appreciation and understanding of the different business managements of the institution dependent upon the taxes of the county toward the largest tax-paying printing office in the county has been exceptional and that is why we wish to express our appreciation.
