2:45pm

Dear ASJUSD Families and Employees:

After reviewing all of the information we have obtained from emergency weather websites and links provided by the county office of education, I am making the decision to close our schools for tomorrow, January 10, 2023 for all students and staff, with the exception of custodial staff, groundskeepers and limited administrative team members to oversee any site issues or problems. We hope to resume school on Wednesday, January 11, 2023.

We have some unique geographical challenges compared to our neighboring districts which have weighed heavily on my decision. Safety is of the utmost concern for our students, their families, and our employees. Steady rain is predicted from the early hours of Tuesday morning throughout the day which will exacerbate already flooded areas. Please continue to take safety precautions to keep you and your household safe.

At this time, we expect to be back in session on Wednesday, January 11th. I will keep you posted if there are any changes to this plan.

Sincerely,

Barb Dill-Varga, Ed.D
Interim Superintendent
