Academics/Achievement

Robin Brown

2023 Watchdog Hall of Fame Inductee

Dr. Robin (Lindblom) Brown graduated from Beresford High School in 1979. Dr. Brown grew up on a farm five miles northeast of Beresford, South Dakota. During high school, she was in band, chorus, cheerleading (girls basketball, boys basketball and football), she participated in junior varsity golf, all-state chorus, all-state band, she was selected as a delegate to Girls State, she was a member of the homecoming royalty, and Dr. Brown was a member of the Beresford High School National Honor Society (NHS). Her fondest High School memory was taking a band trip to Winnipeg, Canada.

After high school, Dr. Brown attended South Dakota State University (SDSU) to become a Registered Nurse and she received a Bachelor's Degree in Nursing in 1983. After graduation, she worked as an RN on the neurology unit at Sioux Valley Hospital in Sioux Falls, South Dakota. In addition, she worked part-time at the Sioux Falls Free Clinic. In 1985, she moved with her husband to Clark, South Dakota. Dr. Brown continued her RN career at the Clark Care Center and Prairie Lakes Hospital in Watertown, South Dakota. From 1985-1987, she was the Director of Nursing at the Clark Care Center.

Dr. Brown's first teaching position was in 1991 for the University of South Dakota (USD) outreach program in Watertown, South Dakota. In 1993, she became the Nursing Director of the 1+1 program with Lake Area Technical Institute and the University of South Dakota in Watertown, SD. She also worked with the Good Samaritan Society and received a million-dollar grant to develop an online practical nursing program, so rural students could have an opportunity to obtain a Licensed Practical Nursing (LPN) degree and to increase the number of LPNs in South Dakota. While at Lake Area Tech, Dr. Brown decided to further her education and received her Master's in Nursing in 1999 from SDSU.

In 2012, she started the Ph.D. nursing program at SDSU. The same year, she accepted a position at SDSU as a nursing instructor and began teaching in the undergraduate program. Dr. Brown graduated with her Ph.D. in Nursing in 2016 and became an Assistant Professor. During graduation, she received the Outstanding Nursing Graduate Award. Currently, she teaches in the undergraduate and graduate nursing programs at SDSU and was tenured and promoted to Associate Professor in 2023.

Dr. Brown's Ph.D. dissertation has positively influenced the profession of nursing both nationally and internationally. Her dissertation was "Determining the Relationship among Change Fatigue, Resilience, and Job Satisfaction of Staff Nurses." The dissertation was published in 2016 and has been cited in over 100 other journal articles. Dr. Brown continues her research in the area of improving the profession of nursing. She has conducted multiple research studies and has been published in 14 peer-reviewed journals, and has multiple presentations at both local and national conferences. Dr. Brown co-authored a chapter in the book Rural Nursing Concepts, Theory and Practice. The chapter was titled Using RNS in Primary Care: Opportunities and Challenges for Rural Clinics.

Dr. Brown has obtained grants to help further her research. One grant was a $2.7 million grant from the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) Nurse Education, Practice, Quality and Retention (NEPQR). Dr. Brown served as the Project Manager of the grant. The project aimed to educate BSN students and registered nurses (RNs) to practice to the full scope of the RN license and expand their scope of influence on the interprofessional community-based primary care team and address their role in the opioid epidemic. As a result of this grant, she served as the project manager of a second grant to purchase telepresence robots to use in simulation due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

In addition, Dr. Brown received a $2,500 internal grant and served as the Project Investigator to conduct a research study on nursing faculty. The study was titled, Determining the Relationship among Change Fatigue, Self-Efficacy, and Physical Activity of Nursing Faculty. To assess the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic on nurses, Dr. Brown worked with an interdisciplinary team to conduct two research studies. The first study was titled Factors Associated with Nurses Emotional Distress During the COVID-19 Pandemic. The second study was a follow-up study to assess changes in emotional distress as the number of COVID-19 patients increased.

Dr. Brown assists students in becoming successful in their research. She served as the Van D. and Barbara B. Fishback Honors Nursing Coordinator and advised undergraduate nursing honor students with their Independent Study Project, which is a requirement to graduate with Honors College Distinction. Two students she advised resulted in publication of their project in a peer-reviewed nursing journal. In addition, she has advised numerous SDSU Masters, Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP), and Ph.D. nursing students with their thesis/dissertation or final project.

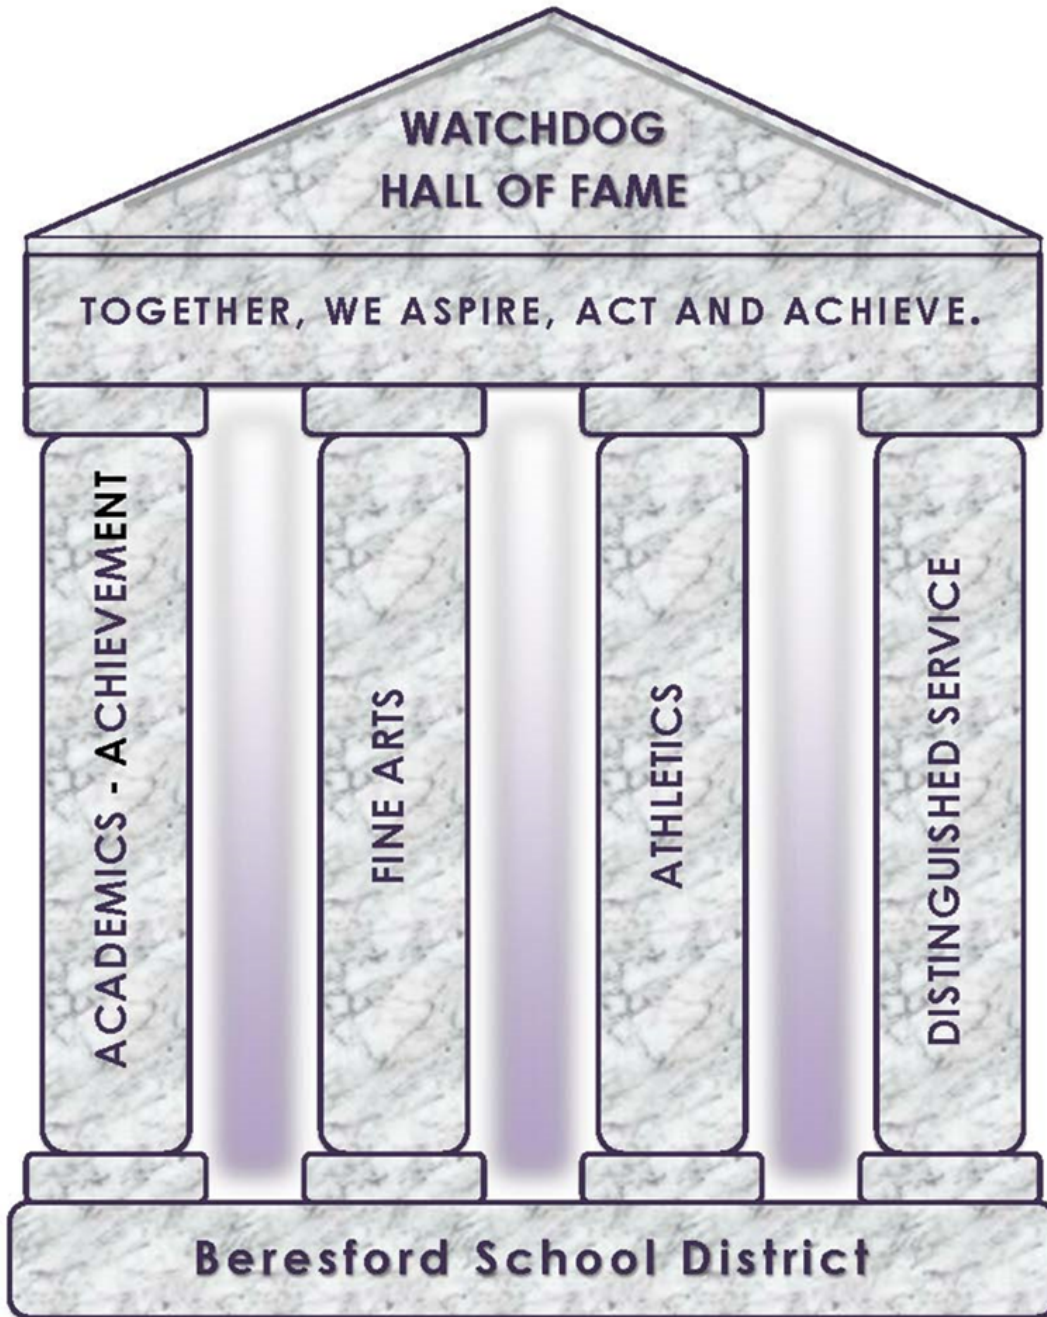

Dr. Brown received faculty recognition for Outstanding Contributions to the Van D. and Barbara B. Fishback Honors College for educational experiences from five nursing honor students. She received the Fishback Honors College Honors Advocate Award. Dr. Brown serves on multiple nursing committees, she is an active member of Sigma Theta Tau (an international honor society of nurses), she is a member of the Midwest Nursing Research Society and the South Dakota Nurses Association. In 2021, Dr. Brown received the South Dakota Nurses Association Nurse Educator Award.

Dr. Brown is married to her husband, John Brown. Robin and John have two children (Michael and Derek) and two grandchildren (Willow and Indy).

Ove drove the Metro bus part-time for 11 years while playing and teaching. They started a campaign to hire part-time drivers, and he got his photograph on some of the buses.

On Ove's 68th birthday, he joined 510 other oboe and bassoon players in Granada, Spain, to achieve the Guinness World Record number of double reeds playing in one concert while attending the International Double Reed Society conference.

Currently, Ove teaches private oboe lessons, as well as, coaching oboe classes in Seattle Schools, and plays in Seattle Collaborative Orchestra, Saratoga Orchestra, and Everett Philharmonic.

Ove and Peggy have two children and three granddaughters in the Seattle area.

Mr. Hanson credits his high school music teachers, Milo Winter, Grace Kennedy, and Neil Jacobsen, for inspiring him to take his love of music seriously and to continue working and practicing. He also gained valuable teamwork skills from his football coaches, Wayne Haensel and David Anderson, baseball coach, Darrell Weiland, and peewee league coach, Chuck Van Heck.

Ove Hanson's words of wisdom are for "music students to take their instrument seriously because the sky's the limit!"

Susan (Sue) Christensen

2023 Watchdog Hall of Fame Inductee

Sue Christensen's early years were spent throughout the Midwest region, where she and her family lived in Iowa, Colorado, Illinois, and Minnesota. Although not a native South Dakotan, she has strong roots in the state. Both her parents, Wayne "Bud" Austin and Vera Ness Klomps are from Elk Point, South Dakota. Summers in Elk Point were spent working on her grandparent's farm. On those hot days, she learned to tend a garden, pull weeds, harvest produce, drive a tractor, shoot a gun, fish, swim, and appreciate the outdoors. These skills helped her transition to farm life when she married Dave, her husband of 38 years.

After experiencing South Dakota summers in Elk Point, Sue chose the University of South Dakota to pursue higher education. After graduating in 1984 with a degree in Recreational Therapy, she was eager to begin a career helping others heal through leisure pursuits. She first worked at Woodfield Center, implementing adventure-based programs such as backpacking in the Black Hills and canoeing down the Big Sioux. These programs aligned with the adolescents' treatment goals to respect others, communicate feelings, and develop a sense of belonging.

In 1991, Sue joined Sioux Valley Hospital, now Sanford Medical Center, as a recreational therapist, working on the inpatient rehabilitation unit with patients who experienced a stroke, brain injury, or spinal cord injury. Advancing to management, for over 25 years, she has served as Director of Therapy and Rehabilitation, overseeing multiple departments, disciplines and locations. She has the privilege of working with and leading over 250 members of a diverse healthcare team.

Over 20 years ago, CARF, The Commission for Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities, selected Sue to join its cohort of healthcare leaders as an accreditation surveyor. Utilizing her expertise, Sue applies industry-developed standards for rehabilitation programs on their person-centered care and quality. This consultative role led her to serve around the world, including North America, South America, China, the Middle East, and Europe.

Sue's passion for community outreach has guided her to serve on multiple boards and councils: South Dakota Parks & Recreation Board, the Emmanuel Lutheran Church Council, the National Multiple Sclerosis Board of Directors, the Watchdog Foundation, the Associated School Boards of South Dakota (3 years), and the Beresford School Board.

When her daughters Jessica, a 2012 Beresford graduate, and Shanna, deceased, neared school age, Sue knew she wanted to serve the school district in some capacity. After attending a few school board meetings as a community member, she witnessed firsthand how the school board, administrators, teachers, and community worked together to meet the needs of children in the district. She decided to run for the position that was open and won.

Sue was a member of the Beresford School Board from 2001 to 2013. She served as Board President from 2003 to 2013. During her tenure on the board, the school district transitioned to all-day, everyday Kindergarten, transitioned from a junior high to a middle school, experienced numerous budget challenges, worked through opt-outs, hired three superintendents, expanded the Elementary school lobby, established the Watchdog Foundation, renovated the track and field complex, added on to the South Campus (wrestling room, coaches' office, official's room, and storage room addition), and worked through the implementation of No Child Left Behind, a federally mandated program.

Sue and Dave's youngest daughter Shanna was born with developmental delays. As a family, they were thrust into a new world of Educational IEPs, physical, occupational and speech therapy, advocacy, and finding medical care appropriate for their daughter. After Shanna's death in 2007 at age 10, Sue's love of cycling and her history of helping others heal through leisure pursuits provided the catalyst to launch a fund established in Shanna's memory.

With proceeds from the Tri-County Bike Tour, the Shanna Rae Christensen Memorial Scholarship was established in 2009. It is a sub-fund of the Beresford Area Foundation Fund and is managed by the South Dakota Community Foundation located in Pierre.

The first scholarship was awarded in 2011. Since then, $19,450 has been awarded to 37 Beresford seniors. The scholarship is awarded to a graduating Beresford senior(s) whose intended study area is special education, nursing, or disciplines within physical medicine and rehabilitation. The Watchdog Foundation implemented an application and selection process each spring, with students receiving their scholarships in time for the fall semester.

Watchdog

FOUNDATION

The Tri-County Bike Tour was an annual event until 2020. Each year an average of 100 cyclists would register and tour the county roads in the three counties surrounding Beresford; Union, Clay, and Lincoln. Despite the event stopping, the fund has reached a sustainable level and will continue to support the Beresford District and its students for many years.

Sue and her husband, Dave, live on Dave's family farm west of town. Their daughter Jessica lives in Atlanta, Georgia, with her wife Emily. Sue enjoys cycling, walks, snowshoeing, hiking, gardening, reading, traveling, entertaining, and cooking.

One of Sue's favorite quotes is from a paperweight she received after leaving her job at the Gamehaven Boy Scout Council. It reads, "A hundred years from now it will not matter what my bank account was, the sort of house I lived in or the kind of car I drove. But the world may be different because I was important in the life of a child" by Forest Witcraft.

Watchdog Hall of Fame Class of 2023

Distinguished Service

Robert (Bob) Kennedy

2023 Watchdog Hall of Fame Inductee

Mr. Robert (Bob) Kennedy is a 1951 graduate of Beresford High School. Bob attended Millbrook Country School (a one-room classroom with 16 students) for grades one through eight. During his high school years, Mr. Kennedy was involved in football, basketball, track, and American Legion Baseball as a pitcher. He pitched two no-hit ball games on the new baseball field.

After High School, Bob attended Wheaton College in Wheaton, Illinois. Mr. Kennedy graduated from Wheaton in 1955 with a degree in general science. While in college, the Korean War was going on. Bob joined the ROTC and, upon graduation, was a 2nd Lieutenant in the Army Signal Corps. He continued his military career after graduation at Fort Monmouth in New Jersey and Fort Huachuca in Arizona. Bob left the service as a 1st Lieutenant in 1957.

After the Military, Bob returned to Beresford, where he joined his father, Walter, brother Howard, and aunt Evelyn on the family farm. Bob married Darlene Larson in 1959 and had four children: David, Scott, Todd, and Karen. Bob has been involved with the Brooklyn Evangelical Free Church. He taught Sunday School for 40 years, which led him to join Gideon International and help send God's word around the world.

Mr. Kennedy had a history of involvement in the educational needs of our community even before he was elected to the School Board in 1971. He had served on the School Board of a Common School District and had been President of the Beresford PTA.

When Bob started his first term on the board, country schools were closing, and their students were coming to town, increasing the need for updated facilities. Many lower grades had to have classes in the basements of the local churches and trailers used as temporary classrooms. His daughter was entering the third grade and had never been in a normal classroom setting when he ran for re-election in 1975.

Bob chose to run for a position on the Board of Education because he recognized the need to continue to provide good educational opportunities for our children. He also felt that each generation has an obligation to prepare for the future as past generations had prepared for the present.

Bob was elected in 1971 to a four-year term. In his third year, he was elected President of the Board. Bob ran for reelection in 1975 but was defeated. He ran again in 1976 and was elected to a four-year term. After being sworn in, the other members elected him President, and he served in that role until he retired from the Board in 1982.

When Bob joined the School Board in July 1971, a bond issue for new facilities was in the works and scheduled for a vote in October. If approved, the $380,000 bond issue would provide funds for constructing ten classrooms for grades five through eight built around a center core Library, a multi-purpose room serving as an eating area, a gymnasium, and a vocal and instrumental music room. There was division in the community over the cost of the new facilities and where to build. Some in the community thought it would be best to add to the existing facilities and build a less expensive building on the land to the South of the existing auditorium (e.g., the current North Campus). Others felt it was in the best interest in the long-term to build classrooms, administrative offices, and a multipurpose gymnasium on the 25 acres two blocks South of the existing facilities (e.g., the current South Campus). The first bond issue failed at the polls, and bond issue elections in 1972, 1973, 1974, and 1975 also failed. There was much legal maneuvering on both sides of the issue. Mr. Kennedy remained undeterred and unwavering in his commitment to ensuring that students would have quality buildings and facilities in which to learn.

The State Fire Marshal had been called to Beresford several times by concerned parents to check out the churches used as classrooms. Upon inspection, he recommended that all basement classrooms be discontinued at once as “they are in violation of all codes for the safety of the children.”

The State Superintendent of Schools stated that he would not approve building at the North Campus. A court decision handed down by Judge E.W. Hertz reinforced the State’s authority. The decision noted that “the State has the right to prevent the additional classrooms on the present school grounds,” which left the only option for additional classrooms to be built on the 25 acres two blocks South of the North Campus. When reelected in 1976, Mr. Kennedy made a motion to call for bids to build on the existing footings constructed in 1972. On September 26, 1976, Mr. Kennedy gave the cornerstone address and placed the one-foot by two-foot marble stone inscribed, “Beresford School 1976.”

The final inspection of the building was on the week of August 1, 1977. The open house for the facility took place on September 11, 1977. Board members and Superintendent Carnes conducted tours of the new facilities. Board members and their wives served roughly 1,000 people coffee and cookies during the tours.

Mr. Kennedy was honored as one of eleven nominees selected throughout the State of South Dakota as an outstanding school board member at the Associated School Boards of South Dakota annual banquet on October 12, 1978. On Sunday, March 18, 1979, Jean Kroeger, architect, presented Mr. Kennedy with the key to the new classrooms and gymnasium. Mr. Kennedy was also involved in building the bus barn in 1978 and the football and track stadium in 1980.

As a board member, Mr. Kennedy believed that quality learning materials, equipment, and facilities are necessary to educate our children. Bob believed that our children are our most important product.

Watchdog Hall of Fame Class of 2023

Distinguished Service

Gordon (Gordy) Tornberg

2023 Watchdog Hall of Fame Inductee

Gordon Tornberg graduated from Beresford High School in 1948. During high school, Gordon was involved in basketball, football, track, Future Farmers of America (FFA), and mixed chorus. Mr. Tornberg was a class officer, FFA officer, and judged in FFA. Mr. Tornberg started serving on the Beresford School District's Board of Education in 1968. Gordon's first board meeting was on July 15, 1968, and he started his service by being appointed to the school grounds committee.

Gordon Tornberg and his wife, LaDell, had seven children -Mike, Steve, Connie, Bruce, Susan, Marlene, and Randy. All of Gordon's children were educated through the Beresford School District.

Gordon Tornberg and his wife, LaDell, had seven children -Mike, Steve, Connie, Bruce, Susan, Marlene, and Randy. All of Gordon's children were educated through the Beresford School District.

Mr. Tornberg not only served the District by being a member of the board of education, but also he served the community through his involvement with the Lions Club (e.g., serving as president, treasurer, and various other committee roles) and involvement with Emmanuel Lutheran Church. When running for re-election for the school board, Mr. Tornberg noted in the June 16, 1983 edition of the Republic, "A strong educational program is the backbone of any community." Mr. Tornberg pointed out that "Beresford has been a leader in small rural community education with its top quality offerings in the basic subject matter, as well as program in special education, the gifted, remedial reading and math, speech therapy, and the provision of school nurse on staff." Furthermore, Gordon felt that "A school system is a business, which must be kept economically sound, which can be done through careful planning and administration."

During Gordon's tenure on the Board of Education (1968 through 1986), the District grew, the board and community navigated ongoing discourse, and the Beresford School District Board of Education helped set the stage for the facilities and opportunities our current learners experience daily. As noted within the History of the Beresford School, the enrollment for the District continued to increase during Gordon's tenure on the board with the reorganization of 1969 and the subsequent closing of rural schools. As a result, classroom space was again scarce. A rural school building was moved on the site to house vocal music and, in 1970, a second rural school building was moved on the Nelson property south of the gym at our current North Campus to house special education classes. Once more, the facilities of the Catholic and Congregational churches were used for additional classroom space for the 1971-72 school year. In 1972-73 and 1973-74, the Catholic, Congregational, Emmanuel Lutheran, Methodist, and, at one time, the Nazareth Lutheran church basements and educational facilities were needed for classroom space for the District's elementary students.

In the fall of 1974-75, the classes were returned to the school site by putting classroom areas in the gymnasium and using classrooms in the high school building. The gym facility of Woodfield Center was used for some physical education and athletic practices. Some of these classes were moved to the educational facility of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church and back to the basements of other churches in November of 1974. In April of 1975, due to concerns of the Fire Marshal, the classes in the church basements were moved back to the high school building and ran on split shifts for the remainder of the year. The fall of 1975 found the kindergarten, first, and second grades housed in three temporary classrooms units, containing two classrooms, each placed on the south school site.

Construction was begun on the present high school building on the South school site in 1976, with the first classes being held there for grades K-4 in the fall of 1977. The gymnasium and new kitchen were added in 1978-79. Added to the South school site through 1981 was an athletic complex consisting of a football field, a practice football field, an all-weather track, and a concrete block stadium. Together with the City of Beresford, two softball diamonds were constructed.

Mr. Tornberg's distinguished service featured a lifetime of servant leadership to the community and school system.
