

Hi sixth graders!

I hope you are doing well! Here is a reminder of your language assignment for the month of March. It is the same assignment posted on your weekly schedule. You are to write a narrative story about your favorite memory. You may pick anything that you wish as long as you remember enough details about the event that you can write about it. I'm sending you a guideline to help you with time management.

March 16th-20th: Start thinking about some possible memories that you want to write about. Finalize the one you want to use for your essay. You will need an introduction, middle, and conclusion. The introduction will be used to lead the reader into the event you are writing about. The middle will be made up of the details of the memory. By the end of this week, you should have the introduction completed and the middle started.

March 23rd-27th: Continue working on the middle and conclusion of your essay. Proofread thoroughly and send the final essay to my email by March 30th. mbosaw@gallatincusd7.com

Thank you and happy writing! I can't wait to hear about your favorite memories!
