The goal of any of the Learning Resources provided is to keep skills already attained and maintained. The expectation of work by students on these days off is encouraged, but optional, and will not be for a grade.

Below are some of the platforms that we currently use in the classroom that students can easily access from home. If you need assistance with log ins and/or password information, please contact your child's teacher via email.

IXL- - www.ixl.com/signin/marshallcusd Students can utilize this platform for both reading and math. Lessons are by grade level and grouped by skill. Your student will know how to use this technology tool.

Xtra Math- www.xtramath.org This site will help increase speed and accuracy in arithmetic. Students can practice a few minutes each day practicing math on a tablet, phone, or computer.

Intervention Central- <http://www.interventioncentral.org/> This website provides free resources to create practice activities for reading and math. Sight word practice is encouraged for all levels. You can make your own through this platform.

Our focus through March 31st will be on reading and math skills. We encourage you make this time at home with your child fun and engaging. There are numerous apps and websites that are being offered for free for the next few weeks. Please try to encourage your child to take advantage of these learning opportunities. We appreciate your patience and support.
