Teacher Appreciation Week May 2nd- May 6th

Did you know that in 1953 Eleanor Roosevelt asked Congress to specify a day to recognize teachers for the passion and dedication shown to the nation's children? Mrs Roosevelt's request become a reality in 1980 when the Kansas State Board of Education and the Indiana State Board of Education joined forces with the National Teachers Association to lobby Congress to have the day nationally recognized. Thank you to all the Oxford teachers, paras, and support staff who make it possible for the children in our community to thrive and have learning experiences that prepare them for the future.
