INFORMATION/DISCUSSION ITEMS

1. Student Representative Report – Miss Vash was unable to attend but did email report about finals, iReady Assessments, nutrition break scheduled for removal as of next school year, I am speaking on behalf of the seniors who desire its removal by next semester. Lunch being cut short by 5 minutes for a nutrition break is not favored from the perspective of my class. It is currently 35 minutes long, which is arguably not enough to temporarily exit the school for a meal with friends. That is why the removal of the nutrition break by next semester would ease the stress upon upperclassmen and teachers who travel for lunch. In regard to successes, two of our senior students have been accepted to schools through Quest-Bridge: Jocelyn Zacarias and Alondra Perez. Their schools are Brown University and The University of Chicago. The senior class remains proud of their accomplishments. On another note, our math classes have remained relatively difficult, especially for students who have lost touch with the lessons taught during distance learning in 2020-2021. This has been proven through the SBAC test and iReady Diagnostic. Several of the students in my AP Calculus class lack the confidence to graph parabolas and such. Our math pathways have become a blur for the majority who struggle to understand the level of math they are branched into any grade level.
