Agricultural Education Program Review February, 2020

Currently, the Agriculture Program at Columbia High School (CHS) is extremely active. The program is growing and creating more and more ways for the community to be involved through community partnerships.

The classes being taught are Animal Science, Horticulture, Natural Resources, Advanced Agriculture and Small Animal Science. In the next year or two we are hoping to add a Veterinary Science class and incorporate an optional forklift certification component into the Horticulture curriculum. These changes to the program are based on a recent review of our current labor market data in Klickitat County. We use the indoor classroom and our CHS Land Lab for positive and safe learning environments. Students have the opportunity to work in hands-on, problem solving situations on a daily basis either in the classroom or on the Land Lab.

Outside of the school day, FFA is in full swing. On Tuesday, February 18th Columbia High School and White Salmon Valley FFA hosted the District 8 Career Development Event Day. Schools from all over southwest Washington were in attendance. White Salmon Valley FFA members participated in Employment Skills, Agricultural Issues and Extemporaneous Public Speaking. Congratulations to Mollie Ritoch for taking first place in Extemporaneous Public Speaking, and Dorothy Carrillo for placing third in Employment Skills, Lexi Brock for placing fifth in Employment Skills. Our Agricultural Issues team consisted of Aryah Nelson, Mollie Ritoch, Danny Vargas, Lexi Brock, Hailley Gross and Josiah Nelson and they placed first in District 8. The Agricultural Issues team, Mollie Ritoch and Dorothy Carrillo earned their way to compete at the Washington State FFA Convention at Washington State University in May.

In January, Penelope, our breeding sow, had 11 piglets. Students have been heavily involved in the management of this litter if pigs. The runt has needed extra attention and bottle fed every few hours. The Austin Bucklin Memorial Livestock Pavilion will be bursting at the seams with FFA members animals in April. There are a few finishing touches left for the Pavilion but, the building is mostly complete. We are in the process of repairing the outside yard portion of our chicken coop.

RE: Program Report for 2019/2020

Today I would like to take a moment to let you know what is going on in the Metalworking shop. Our program goal or purpose as defined by our Vocational Advisory Committee is as follows:

Students will develop the knowledge, skills, habits and attitudes to be successful in post-secondary training and/or career opportunities.

This year we offer both Metalworking and Robotics courses. Students in our Metalworking course start out with a scavenger hunt to get to know where the equipment and resources are located. This is followed by mechanical drafting activities to learn how to measure, read and draw blueprints, and create accurate layouts. Students then apply these skills to build a handsome sheet metal toolbox. This project is followed by safety training activities using power tools such as grinders, sandblasters, shears and drilling machines. Next students learn to weld steel using various machines concluding with a take home project. Advanced students design CNC Plasma art, perform mechanic work with an experienced volunteer mechanic as well as create advanced fabrication projects.

In our Robotics class students work in pairs to learn to read plans and schematics, DC electronics, gearing, computer aided design, soldering, and programming. Projects include building a motor from scratch, a mobile robot and several quadcopters. Students also develop a game operating these projects in a cooperative/competitive arena of their own design.

CTE Program Review

Colin Cieloha - Business Education

Introduction to Business -

Introduction to Business was a one Trimester class which took place during the 1rst Trimester. The class covered general business principals with a heavier focus on the Marketing side of things (I have a Marketing background). I used a lot of project based learning and group projects during the course. The class ended with a Entrepreneurship unit where students came up with their own business idea and wrote a modified business plan and pitched their idea to the class.

Accounting 1 & 2

Accounting 1 and 2 are both a two trimester class. The class is set up to learn accounting the "old-school" way using pencils and workbooks. Students learn everything from journalizing transactions, posting to the general ledger, creating balance sheets and income statements and a little bit of everything in between. The first Trimester the class focuses on a small proprietorship business where trimester two focuses on the accounting processes of a Corporation.

Computer Apps 1 & 2

Computer Apps two is a one trimester class that is mandatory for Freshman students. The class does a deep dive into Microsoft PowerPoint and Microsoft Word and also covers a little bit of Microsoft Excel. The first half of the trimester students are tasked with learning Microsoft PowerPoint. The end of the PowerPoint unit students are tasked with creating a 5 minute presentation of a topic of their choice where they will use the skills learned in class to create a presentation. The Second half of the trimester is devoted to Microsoft Word, eventually students will create a family newsletter document using the skills they learned in word. The last 2-3 weeks is spent learning Microsoft Excel. Students will learn basic formatting and functions of Excel. The class will finish with a final project that incorporates Word, Excel, and PowerPoint.

FBLA

Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) is a business club here at Columbia High School. We have a weekly meeting where we discuss everything from current business issues to our Regional and State competitions. Recently, our FBLA club had a regional conference in Pasco Washington where student competed in a multitude of competitions from Graphic Design to Entrepreneurship. Of the 17 Students who competed at Regionals 13 of the students qualified for our State Leadership conference. The State leadership Conference takes place during spring break in Spokane, Washington. The state conference consists of competitions where our students will go up against the best in the state as well as various workshops students will attend when they are not competing. The Conference will last three days (Thursday to Saturday) during the first week of April (Spring Break).

Whitson Elementary School is an outstanding school for many reasons. One example of the excellence, which makes Whitson so great, is our percentage of parent participation in conferences. Our school wide parent teacher conference attendance rate is almost always at or above 95 percent! In fact this fall it was 97 percent. Parental involvement is a crucial component to student success. High rates of involvement do not occur by accident. It takes tremendous commitment by all parties, and it is definitely something to celebrate. My office will be relocated to the front hallway throughout conferences, so be sure stop by.

Report to the School Board, February 2020 Wallace and Priscilla Stevenson Intermediate School

Last month's report included our plan for mid-year testing, this month you get to see the results. The testing went according to plan and we have very good data to inform us of our progress and challenges. Overall, we see that our School Improvement Plan is working, and students are learning and receiving interventions that make a difference. I will summarize the data here, if any of you are interested in a more comprehensive look at it, please let me know and I will provide it or we can set up a meeting.

Let's start with Climate Data that we collected from parents, students, and staff:

Students- report that they overall like school and feel safe here. They overwhelmingly know how to report a problem and think they would get help if they asked for it. 71.8% feel like the always or often do well in school and 96.7% say adults at school want them to do well. Though the results are still positive, we could do better at recognizing good behavior (67.2% say we do), and helping kids manage their own behavior.

Parents-report that we have high expectations for their children, treat them all with respect, and they feel comfortable talking to their children's teacher. The least positive responses were about parent involvement, and unfortunately we missed the chance to ask if they are aware of opportunities to get involved.

Teachers- feel supported, safe, and connected. The notable point about this data set is that staff report more positively when asked about how the students feel and act than the students do. This is not a problem, but does show that we think we are doing better than we are, and makes a case for regularly collecting this data from kids.

Academically:

The iReady math data shows that we are ahead of where we were at this time last year with the most progress in the subgroups of Special Ed (60%) and Title 1 students (71%). English Learners (48%) are making slightly slower progress when compared to the general population (58%), but they still are close to on-level progress (50%). The real tell in EL progress will be their ELPA 21 results, which we will see in April.

Students receiving reading intervention services have shown excellent growth with 31 kids on an accelerated reading track, 31 making expected progress and 5 not responding to the instruction. Those last 5 are now receiving more specific and intensive support with more individualized goals. There were 4 students that made sufficient progress to exit from the highest level of reading support and now get the same help accessible to everyone else in their classroom.

Overall our data looks good, at this point we are on track to post higher scores than last year and we see what we hoped to in the climate data. We will take more climate data next year and hope to see improvement; right now we have no baseline to show any improvement. Our English Learners are the group that is showing the average lowest progress, but they are only 2% expected growth in math, and all have made progress in reading. The new English Language Development classes should boost their language skills as measured on the ELPA 21. Our student with the most growth in iReady is also an English Learner who deserves a shout-out, Jose Vargas made 513% his yearly growth already! He was given a special award at last week's assembly for his achievement.

On a different note, we had an assembly last Friday to award six students for showing excellent 'Respect' and hosted the High School Pep band. It was a great way to get together to build community and recognize deserving students. Our staff finished the book study of 'Blindspot' and I would recommend it to anyone who is involved in education. Todd has my copy, but just ask and I can pass it to any of you next.

Go Kodiaks!

We appreciate you Karynn, thanks for helping make WPSIS a great place!

HENKLE

Henkle Middle School would like to congratulate Karen Strain as Employee of the Month. Karen is a veteran teacher who continues to create a classroom culture of high expectations. Students know when they enter her room, their learning and conversations are focused on math. This past month, students in Karen's Math Seminar class have been working on creating a parking lot presentation to sell to a buyer. They were in charge of calculating, researching, collaborating, designing, and justifying their work. Karen also incorporates other real-life experiences for students in her classroom, as well as hands-on learning by using manipulatives. She also makes it a point to have one on one conversations with students on their progress. When Karen is not in the classroom working with students, you can count on her to volunteer at dances. We are lucky to have her as part of our team.
