

Hopewell Valley Regional School District HVRSD Use of Social Media

Hopewell Valley Regional School District recognizes the use of social media tools for communication. It began using Twitter in March of 2010 and Facebook in April of 2011. This was done so that Hopewell Valley Regional School District could use these two mediums in concert with the various other media outreach that are already in place to best engage parents, students, faculty and staff and the Hopewell Valley community in school district issues and events.

Hopewell Valley Regional School District's goals in using social media are...

1. to keep the community aware of discussions and decisions by the Hopewell Valley Board of Education.
2. to increase community participation in HVRSD decisions, events and programs, especially those impacting student learning and achievement.
3. to share more of the good news coming out of our schools.
4. to provide updates on major health and safety situations.
5. to raise awareness of the activities of the Hopewell Valley Education Foundation.
