SEA SANCTUARY

by Rob Hale

Monterey Bay National Marine Sanctuary

PACIFIC OCEAN

Monterey Bay National Marine Sanctuary
covers more than 5,300 square miles.

A sea otter finds plenty of shellfish to eat in Monterey Bay. These animals suffered a drop in numbers because of being hunted for their fur in the early 1900s. Now, they are slowly starting to return to the area.

We often think of a wildlife sanctuary as a jewel of land that has been set aside to keep safe. But there are ocean sanctuaries, too.

The United States government has preserved thirteen important areas as marine, or sea, sanctuaries. The largest of them is California's Monterey Bay National Marine Sanctuary.

This sanctuary is an ecosystem. It is an environment whose nonliving parts, such as water and earth, work with its living parts. Each part is like a companion to another part. "Upwelling" is one example of this. Wind causes cold water to rise to the surface of the ocean. This cold water causes new plants to grow. Then, animals come to eat these plants. This food source is the chief reason why so many species are drawn to Monterey Bay. No enclosure, or closed space, keeps them there. The food does!

Flower Garden Banks

Each plant and animal in a sanctuary is part of a food chain. A necessary bond connects each hunter to its prey. The need for food is why a hungry orca might charge at a sea lion. It is the same reason a sea lion might leave a rockfish exhausted after a chase. One animal depends on another for life.

Flower Garden Banks

Coral reefs and ocean waters are inseparable. Coral reefs can be found 110 miles off the Texas and Louisiana coasts. They are protected by the Flower Garden Banks, a 36,000-acre marine sanctuary.

The coral reefs lie on top of two salt domes, old underwater mountains. Today Flower Garden Banks Sanctuary is home to twenty-three types of coral. Anyone with affection for marine creatures will find many animals there. One might see turtles, manta rays, or the odd intruder, such as the huge whale shark.

Predators and Prey

Each link in the food chain keeps each link in the food chain well fed. Orcas eat sea lions. Sea lions eat rockfish. Rockfish eat krill. Krill eat tiny plankton.

Orcas eat sea lions.

Sea lions eat rockfish.

Rockfish eat krill.

Krill eat tiny plankton.

7. Write two fractions greater than $\frac{1}{2}$.

A figure is line symmetric if it can be folded on a line to form two matching parts that fit exactly on top of each other. The fold line is called a line of symmetry. There is one line of symmetry drawn on the picture of the truck. How many lines of symmetry do the figures below have?

B A figure can have more than one line of symmetry.

This figure is line symmetric. It has 2 lines of symmetry. It can be folded on each line of symmetry into matching parts.

C A figure can have many lines of symmetry.

This figure is line symmetric. It has 6 lines of symmetry. It can be folded on each line of symmetry into matching parts.

D A figure can have no lines of symmetry.

This figure is NOT line symmetric. It has 0 lines of symmetry. It cannot be folded to have matching parts.

Convince Me! © MP.7 Look for Relationships Find two capital letters that have exactly one line of symmetry. Find two capital letters that have exactly two lines of symmetry.

Homework & Practice 16-4

Line Symmetry

Another Look!

Line-symmetric figures are figures that can be folded to make matching parts.

How many lines of symmetry does a square have?

If you fold the square along any of the 4 dashed lines, the two matching parts will lie on top of each other.

A square has 4 lines of symmetry. It is a line-symmetric figure.

For 1–4, tell if each line is a line of symmetry.

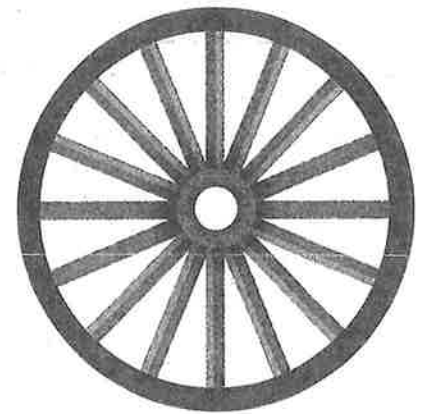

For 5–12, decide if each figure is line symmetric. Draw and tell how many lines of symmetry each figure has.

13. © MP.3 Construct Arguments How many lines of symmetry does a scalene triangle have? Explain.

14. © MP.2 Reasoning Can an isosceles triangle have three lines of symmetry? Explain.

15. © MP.2 Reasoning How many lines of symmetry does the wagon wheel at the right have? Draw or explain where the lines of symmetry are located.

16. Number Sense Stuart has $23.75. He wants to buy 2 tickets that each cost $15.75. How much more money does Stuart need? Use coins and bills to solve.

17. Higher Order Thinking Regular polygons have sides that are all the same length and angles that all have the same measure. A regular pentagon has 5 lines of symmetry and a regular hexagon has 6 lines of symmetry. Make a conjecture about the number of lines of symmetry for a regular octagon. Draw a regular octagon to support your conjecture.

© Common Core Assessment

18. Which of the following numbers has exactly 2 lines of symmetry?

- (A) 1
- (B) 3
- (C) 7
- (D) 8

19. Which of the following letters is NOT line symmetric?

- (A) W
- (B) T
- (C) S
- (D) A

Use Text Features: Diagrams

A diagram is a drawing that shows information. Labels tell you about parts of a diagram. Look at the diagram of a food web below. The arrows show how energy moves from one living thing to another living thing. For example, the arrow pointing from the fish to the duck shows that the duck eats the fish for energy. Use the arrows and labels to answer the questions.

1. Which two animals could the egret eat? _____
2. What does the hawk eat for food? _____
3. Which animals eat reeds? _____
4. How does the fish interact with the dragonfly? _____

Reflect and Write

Choose an animal from the article. Do some research to find out what it eats. Does the animal eat plants, animals, or both? Write a paragraph and draw a food chain about the animal. Remember to include the Sun in your food chain.
