

DPHS showcases new technology at open house

SPENCER — New technologies were on full display last Saturday, Sept. 10, at the David Prouty High School open house. Several parents stopped in to see the school's many new technological offerings, including an array of robots, Smart boards, and Cubelets, among others. Musical entertainment was also provided at the event, including the Marching Panther Band.

The event featured a special musical guest, "Boston Piano Kid" Bradley Bartlett-Roche.

Knox Trail Middle School eighth grader Billy Lascom runs a demonstration of several robots.

Michelle Bastien, the district's positive behavioral interventions and supports coordinator, presents an instructional video.

Students and parents enjoy an impressive musical show from Bradley Bartlett-Roche.

In celebration of a major anniversary, the school's cafeteria staff baked a special treat.

Christine Gniadek is in her first year as the district's technology integration specialist. And she has been quite busy with several new robotic introductions.
