

Eagle Family,

In an effort to heighten the awareness and solidify the support for our school community's well-being and mental health, Johnson County Schools is excited to announce a partnership with Care Solace. This coordination service will assist students, families, and staff in navigating the mental health care system. Whether we deal with everyday stress or life trauma, our physical and mental well-being greatly affects learning and job performance. Our desire is to provide a resource to help guide those in need to qualified providers.

If you, or your family, are searching for help with mental health or substance abuse, please review the attached flier for additional information. Questions may be addressed to our District Counselor Lead, Shawn Castle, or any of our school counselors and psychologists.
