Parents and/or Guardians:

It is a priority to the staff at Royal Valley Elementary School to ensure that your child experiences success while receiving a quality education. As part of continual reflection and growth, we are implementing a new process for the 2023-2024 school year to help determine classroom assignments. The process will include the following steps:

- Current grade level teams will review data on students in the areas of English-Language Arts, Math, and Behavior.
- Grade level teams will make suggestions on students that work well together as well as those who may not work well together academically and socially.
- Special Education staff will provide input on appropriate placement for students with IEP's

This data will be compiled and then the principal, counselor, reading and math specialists will develop potential placements for the upcoming school year. Following this, grade level teams will again be consulted for input on potential placements.

Beginning this school year we will not take parent requests for teachers. If this change is concerning to you or you have information to share with the team to improve your child's learning experiences and classroom placement for next year please make an appointment with the principal, no later than May 5, 2023.

It is our goal to find a classroom environment that is a good match for every student at RVES, and we believe that by taking this team approach, where many professionals have input, we will be able to accomplish that. As such, we hope that you will find this information helpful and informative. Our goal will be to share teacher assignments at a date to be determined shortly following enrollment next August.

Sincerely,

Dr. Justin Moore, Principal
