

LIMA CENTRAL CATHOLIC HIGH SCHOOL

---

April 6, 2020

Dear LCC Families:

As we enter into the most Holiest Week of the year, I am sure we are all consumed with many thoughts: thoughts about our family and friends, another week of online learning, new, yet necessary, shopping restraints effective today, and, of course, Easter. Traditionally, LCC students engage in the stations of the cross during this week. Since we will not be able to have our senior class participate in reading and acting those out this year, the faculty and staff wanted to attempt to bring the Easter message to our school community through another outlet. Throughout the week, short snippets of the stations will be released daily for our students and posted on social media.

Even though this is one part of the week that will look different for many, I pray that you are starting to create a new normal for yourself and your student(s). I know it has been difficult to navigate through these changing and uncertain times. Please know of our continued appreciation for everything you are doing including taking the time to speak with our staff last week while providing valuable insight into how your student's experience has been thus far.

Just one more reminder that daily attendance will be taken beginning today. Your student is expected to reply daily to the Google Form about his/her ability to complete his/her school work. Please be sure to call the school attendance line if there is sickness or another issue that would prohibit him/her from completing his/her work.

I know this week may look different for many of us. Perhaps there won't be the traditional Easter egg hunt at grandma's house or the family meal we often look forward to enjoying, but we still have the ability to celebrate the death and resurrection of Jesus. Sure, it may mean we have to watch Sunday Mass/Service from our house as opposed to going and celebrating in person, but Easter is not cancelled. He has in fact risen! Easter blessings to you and your family.

Blessings,
