Gifted teens' unique perspectives, learning style, and often exceptional abilities can give them many advantages in the social and academic worlds. These "blessings" can come with their own challenges, however. This group has been created to offer the support many of these teens need, but do not always receive. By attending this support group, they will have the opportunity to interact with other gifted teens in a group setting, while receiving guidance and support from a trained counselor with personal experience in gifted issues.
