Program Cost

For the program's first cohort (2020-21), total cost (including tuition, university fees, textbooks, and testing fees) was approximately $15,500. Costs for the second cohort (2021-22) should be about the same, but will vary depending on final 2021-22 university tuition and fee rates that are determined by the EIU Board of Trustees in late Spring. The university provides tools to estimate costs at <https://www.eiu.edu/finaid/cost.php>. Interested candidates should bear in mind that this program includes a mix of on-campus and online courses, and that tuition is charged at the graduate rate. Updates on more specific costs will be available at www.eiu.edu/coe/accelerated.php as the 2020-21 academic year progresses.

Financial Aid

Because the Accelerated Post-Baccalaureate Teacher Licensure Program leads to initial teacher licensure, certain forms of financial aid are available for admitted students who continue to make satisfactory academic progress throughout the program. Information about financial aid may be found at the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships (www.eiu.edu/finaid/)

Information on Golden Apple's Accelerator program may be found at <https://www.goldenapple.org/>

EIU Rural School Initiative

The Eastern Illinois University Rural School Initiative and Rural Teacher Corps programs provide support, financial assistance, and networking opportunities to both undergraduate and post-baccalaureate candidates interested in teaching in rural schools in Illinois. Information about this opportunity may be found at www.eiu.edu/rsi

Testing Requirements

All Accelerated Post-Baccalaureate Teacher Licensure candidates must fulfill the State of Illinois educator testing requirements in order to obtain licensure; there are two main sets of tests that must be fulfilled:

- The content test for the subject area in which a candidate intends to obtain licensure; for the Accelerated Post-Baccalaureate Teacher Licensure Program, these tests must be passed no later than the end of the first semester of residency (i.e., December 17, 2021) in order to progress to the second semester of residency. Candidates who do not pass the required content test by December 17, 2021 will have the second semester of residency delayed until Fall 2022 or later. Information and preparation materials on these tests may be found at the Illinois Licensure Testing System (ILTS) website: <https://www.il.nesinc.com/>
- The state-required teaching performance assessment must be passed prior to obtaining licensure. In Illinois, the required assessment is the edTPA, an authentic portfolio assessment that documents a candidate's skills in planning, teaching, and assessing during a five-day learning segment and employing video documentation, student work samples, and analytical writing. Information about the edTPA may be found at: www.edtpa.com/
