School district data consists of all residents in each school district. This information is based on data from the Arkansas Department of Health. New cases are defined as a positive COVID-19 test during the measurement period of the previous 14 days.

Trend information is displayed as a 14-day new case rate per 10,000 residents for each school district. Some districts have missing rates because rates based on case counts of fewer than 10 are not displayed.

Scientific evidence for when schools should reopen or close has not been developed. Use of data to provide information and inform decisions is critical. School district counts do not include cases among incarcerated populations or in nursing homes.
