Like most school districts, we are constantly upgrading our web site in order to provide an even better way to inform you of the many great things that are happening in our school district.

Our school district is located in Logan County and includes the city of Sterling and the towns of Iliff, Crook, Proctor, and Padroni. The District provides many outstanding educational opportunities for students from preschool through the twelfth grade with all schools meeting Colorado Department of Education accreditation standards.

Preschool education is provided for qualified three and four-year old students through the Universal Preschool Program and the Federal Individuals with Disabilities Act. Preschool programs are housed at Caliche Elementary School and the Hagen Early Education Center in Sterling.

Individual student needs are met in all schools through classroom adaptation and in special programs for gifted and talented (GT) students, limited English proficiency (ELL) students and students with a handicapping condition through Special Education.

The District's patrons are fortunate to have a dedicated and caring staff that provides aggressive instructional programs, cares for the facilities, prepares breakfasts and lunches, transports students to school and events, and administers the affairs of the schools.

The Board of Education, Teachers, Administration and Staff are all extremely thankful for the hundreds of friends of the Re-1 Valley School District for their continued support in making our school district as successful as possible.

Sincerely,
