Let's Ride The Speech Train!

With Ms. Mandie

Ms. Mandie takes kids on a ride.

If you haven't heard Ms. Mandie blow her train horn, you are missing out! She's teaching kids to categorize and help them understand directional words. Staff is becoming quite adept at incorporating images, videos and sounds and they do it with such flair. Mr. Rogers would be so proud.

THIS WEEK'S TOP STORIES

After a lot of starts and stops the district wrangles in Zoom

But there appears to be some issues with connectivity due to recent fires. If you are having troubles let your teachers know.

Speaking of Recent Fires

We are so grateful to all of the front line fire fighters. Our staff, who live in the impacted areas are all well. Linked below are some community resources if you or someone in your family need support during these trying times.

State authorizes small-group, in-person services to provide targeted, specialized support and interventions at school

The Small Cohort Survey went out to families but we have still not received feedback from everyone. Please make sure to take the survey. Your feedback is critical.

The state and local health officer have set out new guidelines for conducting in-person learning for small stable cohorts. Please complete the on-line survey so that the Consortium can better understand your family needs.

Small Cohorts are permissible ONLY when a school is able to satisfy all of the conditions detailed in the handed down Guidance. Small Cohorts is not the same as the Elementary Waivers. For more information click here.

Host Sites have decided to continue DL through the Semester

If you haven't heard, host districts of Consortium classrooms have decided to continue with Distance Learning through January 8, 2021.
