November | Relationships, Friendship, Thankfulness

Elementary

Presli Kelch models a positive attitude and is a caring friend. No matter what the task, she approaches it with a positive attitude while always being aware of others who are struggling and need a little encouragement or help. She tells classmates "Come on you can get this done" or "so if you need something let me get it for you"! Her caring heart makes her an awesome friend in the classroom. Nominated by Mrs. Bishop

Cataleya Parker makes friends with everyone. Cataleya helped another student button their coat because her teacher was tying someone's shoe. She enjoys helping her friends and making sure they are happy. She also builds relationships with teachers and staff members. She is always giving her teachers hugs and trying to brighten their day. Cataleya leaves a lasting impression on those that she builds relationships with because she is so loving and caring. Nominated by: Mrs. Kelch

Jett Pringle went above & beyond to help me facilitate our after school club. He was so respectful & kind in getting out our supplies, helping me remember the supplies I had forgotten. He even helped with our youngest club member, my preschool son. He blew me away the whole season of the club & our club wouldn't have been as successful as it was without his persistent, respectful, and kind help. I am so thankful for Jett & am blessed to know him. Nominated by Mrs. Jenny McGinnis

Jr. High / High

Regan Gable is a wonderful student, organized, and very responsible. She is involved in so many extracurricular activities, while also taking some of the most challenging courses offered. She is busy with 4H and so many activities outside of school as well. She helps doing various things at home and helps take care of her little sisters. She has proven to be very responsible because she can juggle it all so well! Nominated by: Mrs. Bertram

Since the beginning of the year in math class, Kyla Ramey works with her table partner who happens to be a special-needs student. Sometimes the task can be daunting and frustrating, but Kyla has the grace to be kind, patient, and helpful to her partner without complaint. I feel that she has demonstrated a maturity that is admirable for a junior high student. Nominated By: Mrs. Tomlin

Olivia Waits has a growth mindset and is always looking for a challenge. It excites her to have new problems thrown her way inside and outside of the classroom. She is always striving to do better and never makes excuses. She will just keep trying and trying until she gets it and doesn't let road blocks keep her down. She will go so far in life with this mentality of a growth mindset. Nominated By: Mrs. Bertram
