TROJAN 1970

It all begins with enrollment.

Students discuss important topics before school.

Being student aide in the Special Education class proves to be fun.

Bookkeeping takes deep concentration.

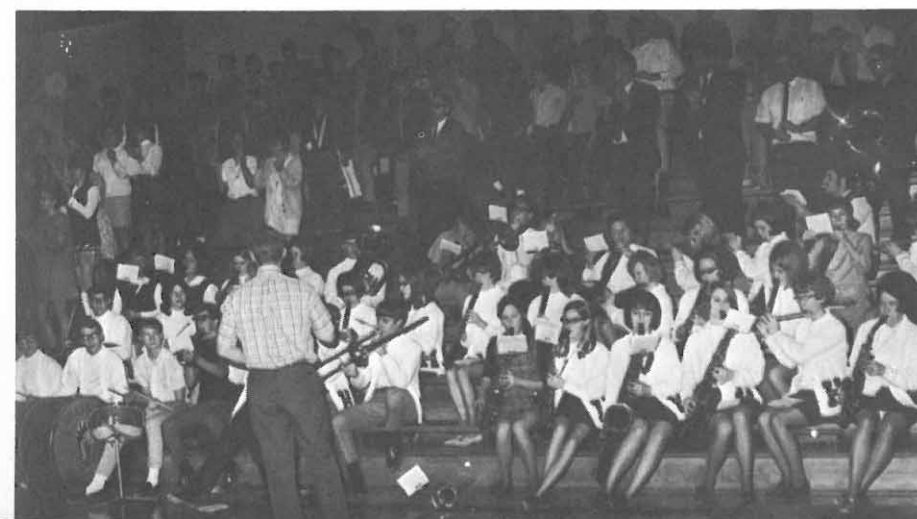

Some students spend three periods in auto mechanics.

Reflections of 1970

Reflections of 1970: An A in algebra, a D on a government test. A four point victory in two overtimes, a sixteen point defeat even though the team put out maximum effort. A football game in twenty degree weather, a track meet when the temperature was ninety. The Junior-Senior banquet, shorts day and school lunches. Look at yourself in the mirror of these pages. You can find yourself here, or someone like yourself. These are faces that are thinking or talking. Working, studying people, people who are having fun. There are reflections of 1970

A snake dance creates interest in football game.

Basketball game is watched with interest.

Pep assemblies stimulate support for basketball games.

Sixth period means band for about one-fourth of the students.

Friday evening football games prompt enthusiastic discussions.

Trojan Dedicated to Mrs. Steinle

On behalf of the student body and faculty we would like to dedicate the 1970 TROJAN to Mrs. Mildred Steinle, the office secretary. Mrs. Steinle offered a friendly smile to everyone who came to the office. She was glad to sell lunch tickets to anyone who needed one. Running off copies of surveys for students also kept her busy. For seniors she was invaluable because it was her time that was spent in preparing and sending transcripts to colleges. Without Mrs. Steinle, records of grades and attendance would not have been kept in order. Seeing that the announcements got out and that attendance slips were collected were other tasks of hers. In Mr. Crum's absence, Mrs. Steinle, took over the duty of making passes for absent and tardy students. Mrs. Steinle was helpful to teachers by duplicating papers, photocopying pages, and sorting mail.

This year student aides assisted Mrs. Steinle as office monitors. Her patience in training these helpers to use the duplicator, operate the photostat machine, and perform other office duties was appreciated by these girls. In this way she acted as a teacher to the seven girls who were interested in learning practical office skills.

For all the work she has done for those connected with HHS, for her friendliness and willingness to be helpful, we dedicate the 1970 TROJAN to Mrs. Steinle.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

BOARD OF EDUCATION: Edwin Winter, president; Delmer Reimer; Darlene Goertz; Noreen Hein, secretary; Dean Kliwer; Eli Suderman; Paul Lange; Keith Bray, Superintendent.

Board, Superintendent Administer Schools

The Board of Education is the legal body for the operation of the schools. They directly represent the people of the school district. Among the Board's major functions are developing school policy and employing personnel to carry out this policy. Financing is also an issue frequently considered because it changes regularly due to state laws. The group meets two times a month and receives no pay. They spend many long hours studying facts and considering various sides of issues being discussed so that they may reach a fair decision.

The superintendent is the executive of the Board of Education and the educational leader of the school system. Mr. Bray recommends personnel and policy, gathers facts and information, and represents the Board. Superintendent Bray is directly involved in everything that happens in the school system. Under his supervision are 110 employees and 1039 students.

KEITH BRAY
Superintendent

MR. JOHN CRUM
Principal

Faculty, Mr. Crum Do More Than Teach

There were twenty-four people who came to HHS each morning along with the students. These people had come because they chose to do so, but not because they always felt like coming. Although they sometimes piled work onto students, or gave difficult tests, they were there for a purpose. Their goal was to teach two hundred and sixty young adults what they needed to know for the future. Not only were the twenty-four interested in helping students gain academic skills in classes. Their jobs continued with coaching athletic teams, directing play casts, organizing club activities, tutoring individual students, supervising spectator buses. The work of these men and women--our teachers--will be reflected in HHS's student body in years to come.

Employees' Efforts Make HHS Pleasant

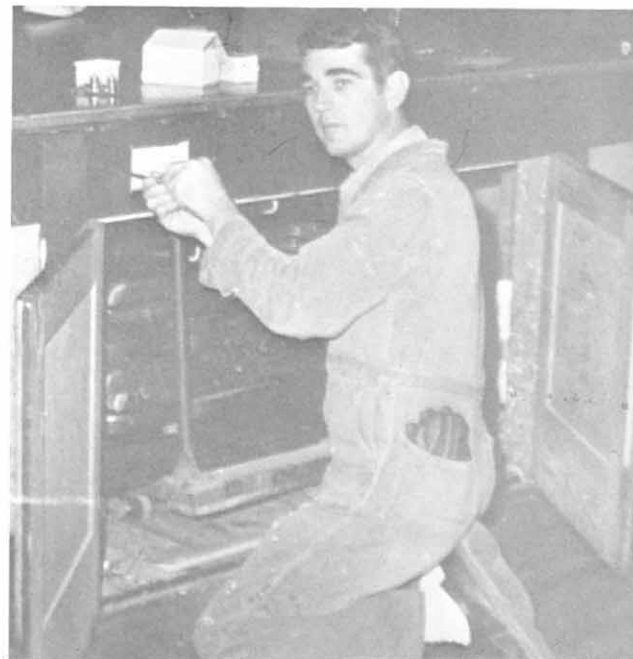

Cooks: Mrs. Washmon, Mrs. Herdt, Mrs. Thye, Miss Epp.

Hillsboro High School would have been an unpleasant place to be if it had not been for the maintenance man, custodian, and cooks. Without Jim Unruh the chemistry lab faucets would not have emitted water at the proper place but would have become showers without stalls. The mobile unit would never have had a buzzer if Jim Unruh had not installed one. He kept the high school in one working piece. Karl Reimer was just as important. "Karl" kept the floors clean. If he had not been there to empty our wastebaskets there would have been no place to throw useless papers. Keeping the halls and rooms of HHS clean occupied most of Mr. Reimer's time. While he was sweeping the floor four women were preparing lunches for about 200 high school students. Hillsboro High could not have functioned properly without the efforts of the cooks and custodians. This effort made it possible for student and faculty to progress with minimum inconvenience.

Year of "Firsts" For Freshmen

For freshmen it was year of new experiences. It was a challenge to find the proper classroom the first few days. After they overcame that problem they were faced with the awkwardness of initiation. Although this did not take place in an organized form, they had to become accustomed to being called "just" freshmen. Soon they experienced another first: their first homecoming and a float to build. How do you build a float if you have never built one before? As they became more involved in driver's education, the freshmen began to look forward to getting their licenses. December came and the class planned a skating party which provided fun outside of school. Shortly after Christmas, freshmen were confronted with semester tests, another new experience. With March, came spring and anticipation for school to be out. The class began to look forward to next year when they would no longer be freshmen.

Involvement Is Sophomore Theme

Sophomores found 1970 to be a much better year than the previous one. Choosing more of their own classes gave them a chance to pursue their interests. No longer were they the youngest group in high school. They knew where to go and what to do. The class became more involved in activities since they were eligible to be in vocal groups and participate more actively in organizations. B-teams in sports consisted mainly of sophomores which gave them good practice to take over the A-teams in the next two years. Work on the homecoming float proved successful for the sophomores this year. Their float, "Burn the Braves," received second place in the classes' float competition. The reward for their creativity and labor during homecoming week was a five-dollar check from Stuco. For the sophomores the year meant greater involvement and more freedom.

Fun, excitement, and anticipation characterized the junior class. Ordering class rings and finally receiving them after months of waiting highlighted the year. Club positions such as vice-president or secretary were occupied by juniors, giving them a basis on which to work when they would become seniors. "The Curious Savage," the humorous play sponsored by the class, helped them to collect the necessary funds to put on the Junior-Senior banquet. Time and creativity were used effectively to make the banquet a successful event. After weeks of planning and hours of work the banquet proved to be an expression of the class's talent. With the closing of the year, juniors began to think seriously about what the future might hold.

Seniors Reflect Past and Future

For the Class of '70 it all began in September with enrollment and the realization that they were Seniors. The image of Homecoming 1969, "their" homecoming, was imprinted in their memories. Thoughts of the future were stimulated when the ACT test scores were received. December came around and the basketball season began with seniors leading the team and cheerleading squad. Filling out college applications and making plans for the future kept seniors busy in January. February was spent in wishing that the semester tests had been the final ones. Term papers plagued the seniors along with the advent of spring fever. Then they became occupied with Music Contest and practice for the musical. It all ended as May came--and graduation. And HHS became a memory. Never again would the Class of '70 be together as a class. From the changing of the tassels the senior class was no longer. They became a group of individual people, some looking forward to jobs, some to college. The past was so great, so secure. The future was exciting, uncertain. Their future in the world would reflect their past as Hillsboro High School.

"Quo Vadis" — Where Are You Going

The sixty-fourth annual commencement activities found seventy-eight members in the Class of 1970. May 24 baccalaureate services were held in the Menonite Brethren Church. After selections by the clarinet quartet and mixed ensemble, Rev. Roland Goering delivered the sermon, "For Such A Time As This." In it he urged the seniors to think clearly, love sincerely, act out of motives honestly, and love God securely. Two mixed chorus numbers finished off the program.

The Class of 1970 marched in to the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance" May 27. The invocation was followed by a flute solo played by Denise Johnson. Dr. Roy Just addressed the graduates and friends on "Quo Vadis," "Where are you going?" Mr. Edwin Winter then presented diplomas to class members. "You'll Never Walk Alone", sung by the mixed chorus, finished off commencement exercises. A receiving line was formed by graduates following the ceremony.

The class's motto was "To Knowledge Add Wisdom." Chosen as the class flower was the yellow mum, while blue and gold were the class colors. Fifteen members of the class were named as honor students.

ORGANIZATIONS

Band Marches at County, State Fairs

Band practices in August prepared the band for the Marion County Fair Concert. September meant the State Fair for Hillsboro High's marching band. After marching through downtown Hutchinson Saturday morning, band members were free to enjoy the fair. The band played a major role in Homecoming 1969 by marching in the Homecoming parade and performing at the half-time show. In late fall the group gave its first formal concert of the year. Another concert was played in mid-May.

Success at music contest was the most hoped for accomplishment of the year. The band's presentation, "New World Symphony" received a I rating as did their sight-reading number. Soloists brought home four medals for I ratings.

Pep Band Supports Cheering at Games

White sweaters with maroon H's on them identified the members of Pep Band. By practicing before school the group prepared to provide the music for the cheerleaders' routines at pep assemblies and basketball games. Without the band's "Boosting the Old High," pep assemblies would not have been complete. Fans attending home basketball games were entertained by the Pep Band during half times and between games. Those who heard the group will recognize such songs as "Hawaii Five-O," "Mrs. Robinson," and "Lovin' Things."

Chorus Presents Handel's "Messiah"

A patriotic theme was used for the Mixed Chorus' fall concert which was presented on Veteran's Day. Ensembles assisted the chorus in this concert. Several members were featured as soloists in the presentation of a portion of Handel's "Messiah." Eugene Butler was the clinician and the composer of several selections sung by the chorus at the South-half CVL Clinic. For its two prepared selections at State Contest the chorus received a I rating. Their sight-reading ability also earned the group a I. Two vocal soloists received I's and the others got II ratings. Throughout the year chorus members sold chocolates. Proceeds from the sales went to the purchase of a dimmer board. The new board was put to use in the production of the musical "Carousel." The month of April was dedicated to practice, work, and more practice in preparation of the May 5 and 7 presentation.

Ensembles Sing for Clubs in Community

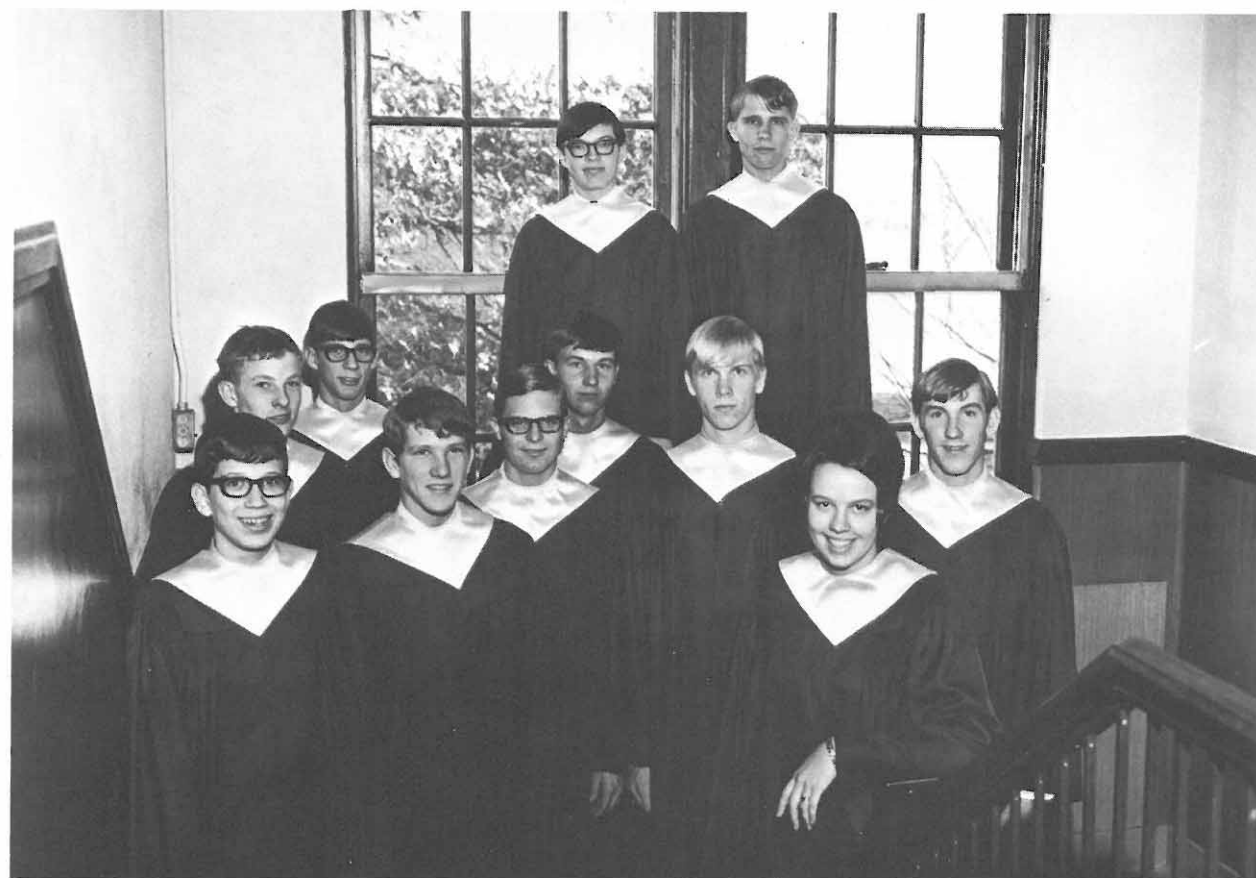

In addition to singing at the fall concert and performing at Pre-Festival Concert and contest, several of the vocal ensembles were on the programs of community organizations. Although Boys Quartet did not take a number to contest they sang at the Trinity Church's Father-Son Banquet and at the Golden Years Club. The Boys Ensemble were on a PTA program, Homecoming and a YWCA meeting were on the performing schedule of the Mixed Ensemble. Girls 16 and Girls 9 also sang at YWCA meetings. In addition Girls 9 entertained the Mentor Study Club. The Freshman girls performed at Parkside Homes.

StuCo Serves HHS

Initiation of freshmen and teachers took place at an all-school mixer sponsored by StuCo. Plans for homecoming were drawn up by members. To complete social activities of the school, a movie, "The Wrong Box" was shown to the student body and refreshments were served without charge.

In serving the school and students, pop and candy machines were installed. On behalf of Hillsboro High, twenty-five dollars was sent to CARE. Eighth-grade day gave next year's freshmen a chance to tour the school under the guidance of StuCo members. Voting by the Council supported the purchase of a new trophy case which will be installed in the annex. In addition to representing the students, StuCo members attended a board of education meeting and conducted elections for next year's officers.

Pep Club Sells Booster Pins

Spirit and enthusiasm in the high school and particularly sports was stimulated by pep club. The club sold sunflowers at the Miss Kansas parade. Their functions included making posters for games. They decorated the goal posts for football games. Members of the club presented skits at pep assemblies to arouse interest. In addition Trojan booster pins were sold to students who wanted to show support for the Hillsboro football and basketball teams.

H-Club Sponsors Parents' Night

H-Club sponsored Parents' Night at a football game. Parents were introduced at the half time of the game and each had a Hillsboro pennant with their son's number on it. H-Club again acted as host to the Regional Tournament held here. Membes were assigned to assist each of the other seven teams in any way possible. Throughout the year the club had several fun nights. At the end of the year a picnic was held at Spring Lake. New members were initiated at this time.

"It" Finances GAA Banquet

Girls Athletic Association invited all clubs in school to participate in the carnival they sponsored in fall. Profits from the carnival were given to the Marion County Association of Retarded Children. Intramural basketball games for girls were organized by the club. A valentine project was that of sending valentines to boys in Vietnam. To help pay for their banquet, GAA members presented "It" to the school. "It" was their version of Laugh-in. The St. Patrick's banquet was held at Betty's Restaurant. Decorations followed the theme "Erin Go Braun." Speaking to the group was Rev. Roland Goering. Seniors were required to walk around a room with papersacks on their heads as a farewell at the last meeting.

FFA Members Tour Hesston Company

A farm mechanics exhibit at the county fair opened the year for the FFA. They also took a farm mechanics exhibit to the state fair and received fifth place for it. District Contest found boys entered in poultry and dairy competitions receiving fourth, and farm mechanics entries first in three divisions. At state contest and conventions members participated in the same three areas as in district, and also livestock. The annual Parent-Son Banquet was held in spring. "Emphasis in Agriculture," was the theme. Speaking to the group was last year's state secretary, Kent Hamilton. Members of FFA toured Hesston Manufacturing Company. The club also financed the building of the red tool shed barn.

FHA Enjoys Bunco

A watermelon feed at the reservoir started off the year. New members were initiated at this time. Names were drawn at the first meeting for secret pals. Several members attended the district convention at Salina. A Christmas program was presented at the Old Folks Home. State Convention at Topeka was a highlight for twelve girls. A bake sale in spring helped finance a bunco party to which the FFA was invited. Modeling clothes made at home, the FHA presented a style show at the last YWCA meeting. To top off the year, a cookout at French Creek Cove proved to be fun. Secret pals were revealed at this time. Y-Teens Sponsor Indian Girl

Among the Y-Teens' major projects was hosting the District fall conference. Goessel, Chase County, and Florence chapters of Y-Teens and YW met at the Trinity Church. Anna Spradlin stimulated everyone with her presentation of the theme "Dare to Care." Club members enjoyed the slumber party held in the gym in fall. Games, food, and friends made the lack of sleep worthwhile. A Christmas program at the Old Folks Home and collecting for the Cerebral Palsy Fund were service projects to the community. Five year-old Vijayalakshmi was supported by the Y-Teens for one year. Also keeping with their purpose of helping others, the Wichita County Children's Home was visited by the group. About thirty children were given a fun program after which the Y-Teens played games with them.

Trojan Staff Seeks Unique Yearbooks

"Let's do something different" became the motto of the 1970 TROJAN staff. That may have sounded like a great idea but accomplishing uniqueness was not so easy. It took hours of thought, organization, and work to bring the yearbook to the students. The result was the largest yearbook ever sold at HHS. Staff members expanded old sections and added new ones. Attempts to give the yearbook a new look resulted in ideas for pictures that had never before been used.

ACTIVITIES

Coronation, Game Highlight Homecoming

Homecoming week, October 17, 1969, began with the task of building floats. Thursday evening, after a speech by Allen Grunau, Helen was crowned Homecoming Queen 1969 by Roger, who was named honorary football captain. Friday, the homecoming parade featured floats, the band, and Queen Helen and her attendants. The climax of the week was the football game with Council Grove. The Trojan band presented a half time show. The senior class's float, "Ban the Braves," received the first place in float competition. Maximum effort by the Trojan football team failed to bring success.

"The Curious Savage" Opens Drama Season

It all started when Mrs. Savage appeared in the doorway with a teddy bear. Her children decided she was insane and for this reason she was taken to "The Cloisters" where she met some fascinating people. There was the incredible little woman who went around turning off lights after giving up light for Lent. Florence was a young girl whose child was a "doll." Fairy Mae always asked people if she was beautiful because she liked the sound of it. Then came Hannibal, an accomplished violinist? Finally, there was Jeff, the guy who stood around with his hand on his face.

After some escapades around the carpet, we find that Mrs. Savage's children are trying to get her bonds, which she has taken from their investments. Mrs. Savage and the teddy bear show everyone where the money is. After the money has been placed on a table, Mrs. Paddy strikes again. A search for Mrs. Paddy begins immediately because they think she has taken the money, only to find their searching futile. Upon the discovery that the bonds had gone up in flames, her children allowed Mrs. Savage to go home. Going away presents were received from the residents after which Miss Wily gave her present --the missing bonds--to Mrs. Savage. It all ends in a normal atmosphere, leaving the teddy bear sitting on the couch.

Despite a battling spirit the varsity team found it difficult to cross the goal line. With services of only six seniors after losing Bruce Rempel due to a knee injury, the football team managed to tie for fifth in CVL play. Hard-hitting effort brought the gridmen a 2-6-1 overall record for the season. The B-team squad proved to be successful by chalking up a 4-2 record.

Although the B-team did not have a winning season they practiced long and hard and battled enthusiastically at games. They gained valuable experience for A-team assignments next year. The freshman team compiled a 6-6 overall record during the season. In league play their record was 4-3, while they placed fourth at the league tournament.

BB Team Spirited

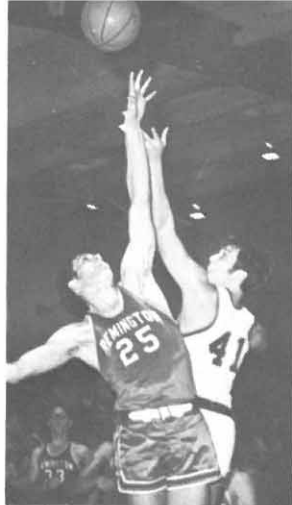

The basketball team battled every opponent to the final buzzer, yet were unable to place more than six victories on their regular season record. While the B-team compiled a 4-10 league record, the A-team managed 5 victories to 9 defeats in CVL play and a 7th place finish. From the Hillsboro team John Warkentin made the all-CVL team and Steve Wohlgemuth and Lyndon Plett received honorable mention.

District tournament action found the Trojans assured of a berth in the Regional Tournament hosted by Hillsboro. HHS received the second place trophy in the tournament. Although the Trojans led state-rated Lincoln several times in the first half of the Regional Tourney game, the end found them behind by eight points. Thus the battle of the last game reflected the team's spirit throughout the year.

"Number Ones" are Intramural Champs

A visitor to the HHS gym on a Tuesday or Thursday night during basketball season would have seen some exciting basketball. The intramural games provided fun and competition for those who played. The intramural tournament that closed out the season found the "Number Ones," captained by Gary Goertz, in the championship spot. "Pete's Packers," "Purple Pride," and "Johnny's Junkies," finished second, third, and fourth, respectively. "Faculty Fossils," again finished the season with an undefeated record.

Thus It Was

I am being driven forward
Into an unknown land.
The pass grows steeper,
The air colder and sharper.
A wind from my unknown goal
Stirs the strings
Of expectation.

Still the question:
Shall I ever get there?
There where life resounds,
A clear pure note
In the silence.
