Let Us Be

The world is coming at us.
We want to be free.
The time is now
To let us be.

We aren't out to wreck the world
But you have to admit
A change wouldn't hurt
One little bit.

We are now,
And the future is ours.
We have to do something
For we are no cowards.

Come on people
Give us a chance
Stop worrying
About if we dance.

Years will begin
And always find an end
But those who were
Have got to bend.

Barb Regier

The Feeling of Love

Our eyes touched
And we gazed at each other
With a feeling of uncertainty.

Our minds touched
But we did not fully understand
The feeling we had.

Our hands touched
And we held each other close
Feeling the warmth between us.

Our lips touched
And then we understood,
The feeling we had was love.

Cheryl Regier

Why War, Lord, Why War?

My dad left last year,
Mom said he's coming back,
But when, Lord, when?

Mom cried when he left,
I just said bye,
But why, Lord, why?

Mom said he's far away,
But how far can he be?
I just heard his voice,
Didn't I Lord, didn't I?

Isn't he coming back?
He said he would
And he wouldn't lie,
Would he, Lord, would he?

Mom said he went to war,
I've heard that word before
But what's it mean;
What has it got to do with Dad?

I miss him
And Mom misses him,
So why did they take him;
What's wrong with those people,
Don't they ever care?
Don't they, Lord, don't they?

What shall I do
And what shall I say?
I guess I'll just cry
There's nothing else to do,
Is there, Lord, is there?

ATHLETIC JOURNAL

1. Oh, we're big jock athletes, we got golden muscles and we're loved everywhere we go. We play for Gene and Donald too at ten thousand stairs a goof. We take all kinds of pills, that give us all kinds of thrills. But the thrill we've never known is the thrill that'll getcha, when you get your picture on the cover of the Athletic Journal.

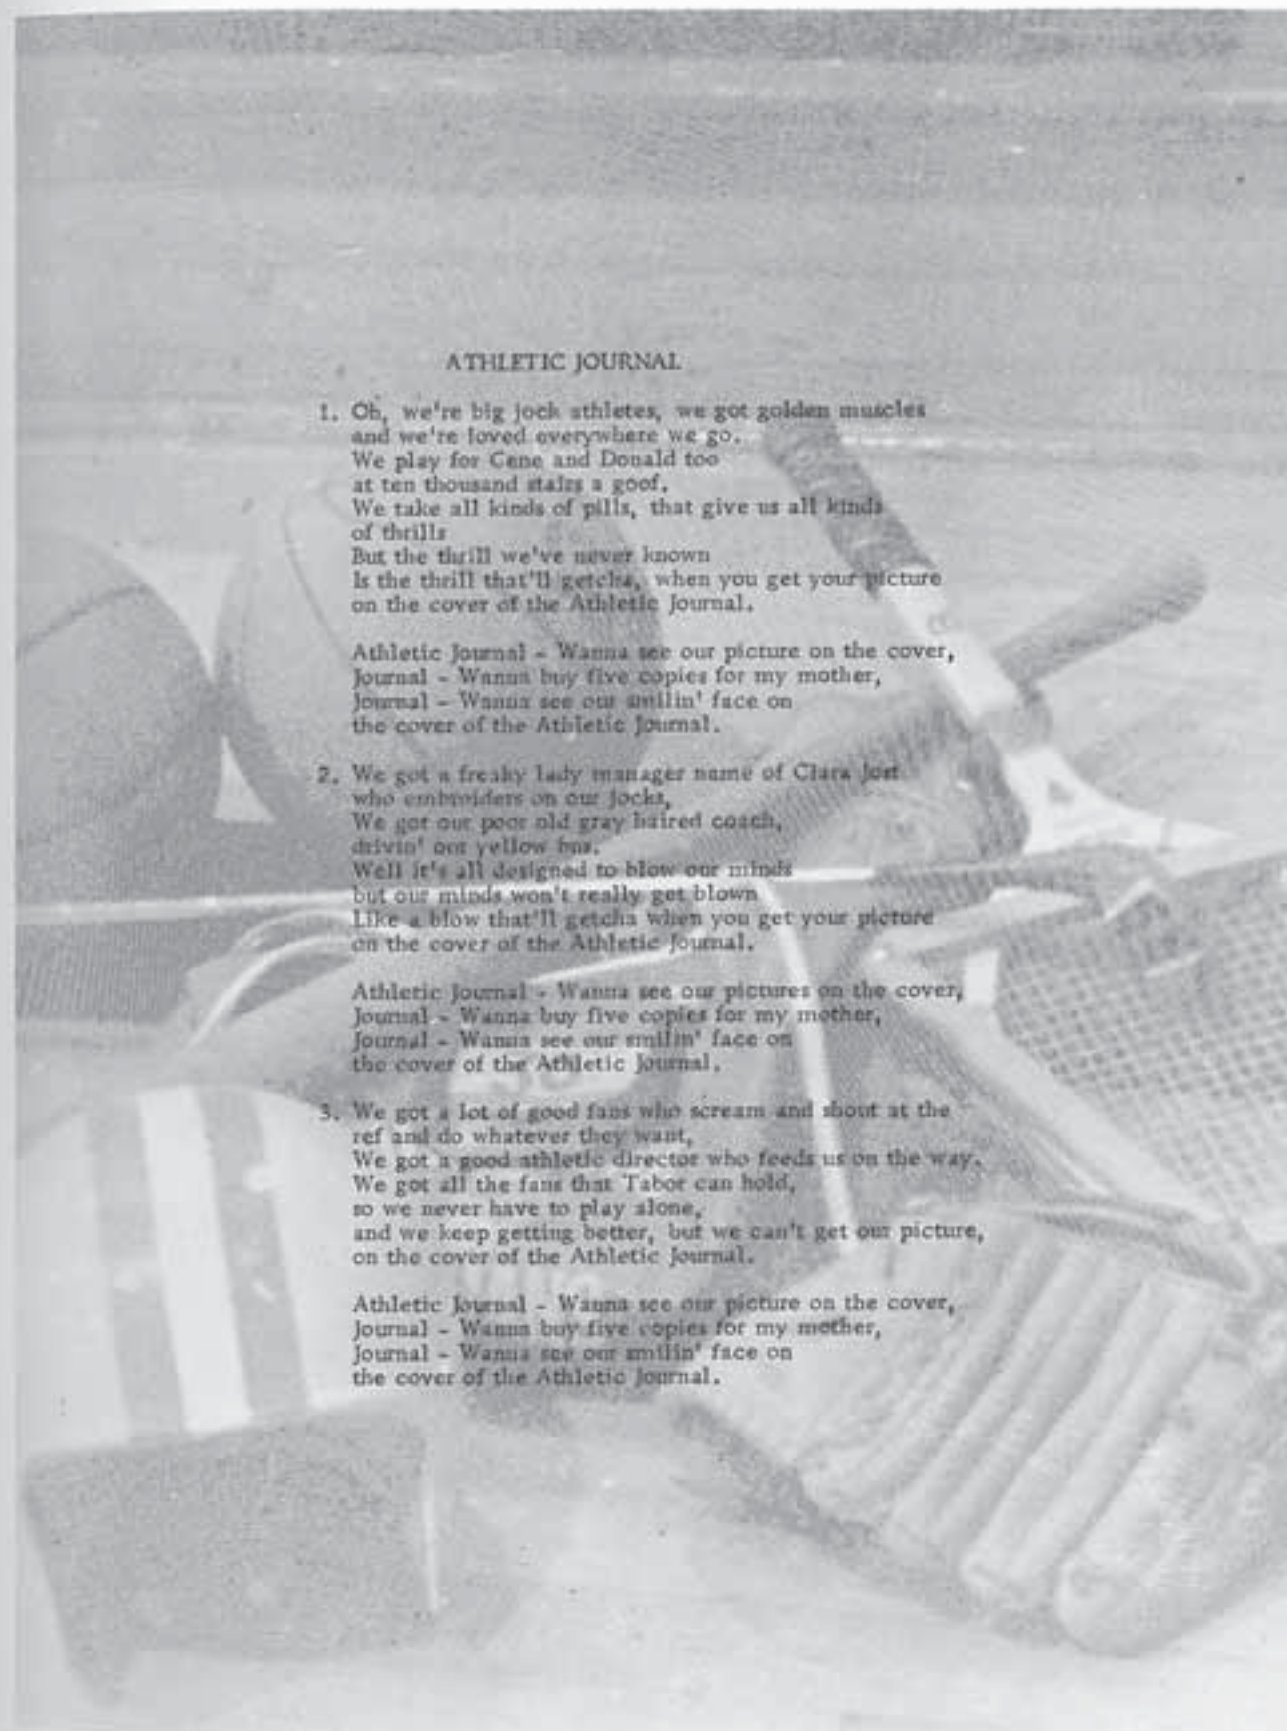

Athletic Journal - Wanna see our picture on the cover,
Journal - Wanna buy five copies for my mother,
Journal - Wanna see our smilin' face on the cover of the Athletic Journal.

2. We got a freaky lady manager name of Clara Jost who embroiders on our jocks. We got our poor old gray haired coach, drivin' our yellow bus. Well it's all designed to blow our minds but our minds won't really get blown. Like a blow that'll getcha when you get your picture on the cover of the Athletic Journal.

Athletic Journal - Wanna see our pictures on the cover,
Journal - Wanna buy five copies for my mother,
Journal - Wanna see our smilin' face on the cover of the Athletic Journal.

3. We got a lot of good fans who scream and shout at the ref and do whatever they want. We got a good athletic director who feeds us on the way. We got all the fans that Tabor can hold, so we never have to play alone, and we keep getting better, but we can't get our picture, on the cover of the Athletic Journal.

Athletic Journal - Wanna see our picture on the cover,
Journal - Wanna buy five copies for my mother,

Freshmen Adjust to High School Life

I sure got a lot of attention this year as a freshman. The only trouble is I don't really appreciate that kind of attention - getting hauled out of town five miles, being pushed around in the halls, and being called all kinds of unmentionable names. I was scared enough just to enter the freshmen year, and then I got a welcome like that. In the second semester, I finally got a chance to adjust. I can laugh at things which were created to cut me down, like saluting to seniors, HA! Forget it! I'm getting somewhere now. Just think, three more years and I'll graduate.

Freshmen, like Valerie Hiebert, and their giggles can drive any sane upperclassman up a wall.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS, Andrea Ratzlaff, StuCo Rep.; Carole Funk, V.P.; Carol Kliever, Sec.-Treas.; and Tim Hiebert, Pres., will hopefully grow up and overcome their urge to play jacks.

Sophomores Experience More Freedom

BEING A SOPHOMORE is one of the best times of high school. You don't have to act as mature as an upperclassman and you're not a dumb freshman anymore. This is the year when you still have an excuse to act as stupid as you want without getting cut down or laughed at. You can do what you want without being pushed around like a freshman.

There are so many more things that you can do as a sophomore. You've got more electives and more choices of things that you want to do.

Then there's always biology. All the lab reports and work are just too much. And P. J.--well, that's another story.

A lot of learning experiences go along with the sophomore year. Some are personal and some are simply academic.

Ideas, Goals Change As Juniors Reach Top

MOST JUNIORS FEEL this is about the most boring year of high school. You're tired of school and this is the year when you cram in as many subjects as possible so your senior year will be slack.

Most people would think that juniors would be really looking forward to the next year. But that isn't all true. The only thing that is being looked forward to is graduation. Another whole year of high school is too much.

But the junior year is also a time for meeting people and time when ideas and goals change. It's a year you've finally learned that fighting with your best friend over some picky little matter isn't worth it. It's not a time of arguing over someone else's ideas. It's a time of understanding other people's point of view.

It's an "I-can-hardly-wait-to-get-out-of-here" year.

Becky Born, sec.-treas.; Kelly Unruh, StuCo; David Loewen, V. Pres; and Jim Schmidt, Pres.

Years Pass for Seniors

I can't believe it. Twelve years of regular routine and now it all comes to an end. I don't know whether to jump for joy or cry out in frustration. What do I do? This is what I've always been waiting for. I thought I had problems before. I don't know where I'm going to be next year. I can remember when I was in elementary school; I always said, "There goes a senior; they're so big." I wonder what happened? I'm supposed to be the mature senior I always visualized. Is it just me? Or were all the seniors in the past like this?

Relaxing in the library lounge, Merle Schlehuber is probably thinking of the price of cattle at the last sale he attended. Merle, a farmer-stockman in partnership with his father, has no employment worries after graduation.

THE SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS seem to be checking out the evergreens as a hiding place in case the spirited class debates over the graduation robe issue get too heated. A compromise, wearing robes at one ceremony only, was finally reached. Randy Koehn, Pres; Diane Wiens, Sec.-Treas.; Donna Schmidt, V.P.; David Becker, StuCo Rep.

Seniors of 1973 Enter Adult Life

The class of '73 slowly marched down the aisle to the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance". Each white tassel swinging in time from the brim of the graduation caps.

Rev. Bruce Hanson from the Trinity Lutheran Church in Durham started the evening with the invocation. Next was a solo by Ricki Wiebe on flute.

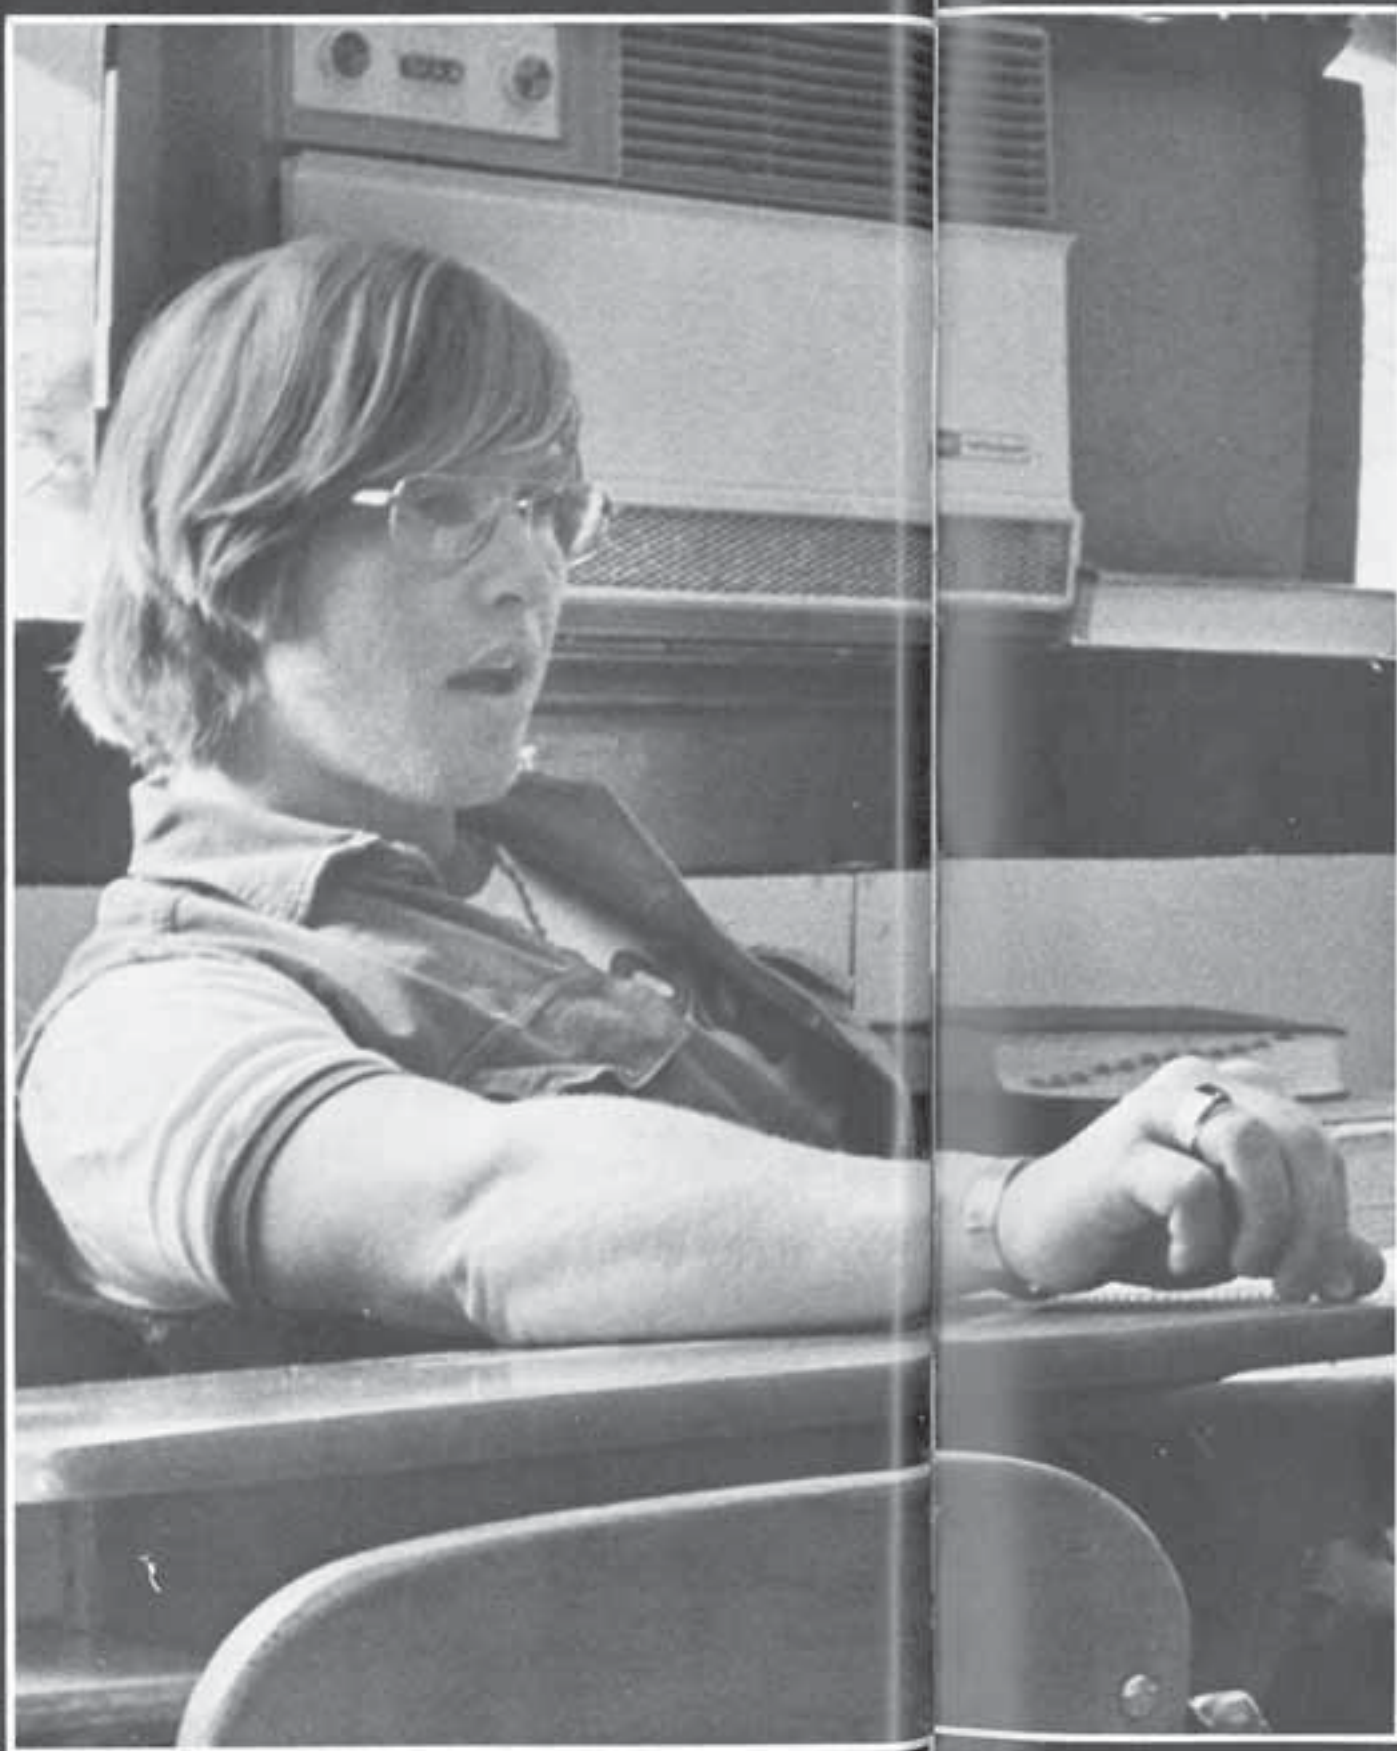

Four seniors gave speeches on how they felt about the twelve years and about the administration. They were quite honest.

The program also included a solo by Tyler Ewert, two selections by mixed chorus, and, of course, the awarding of the diplomas.

ACADEMICS

"I was sitting there minding my own business when all of a sudden she asked me a question."

New School Top Issue

A new school was the biggest issue this year at board meetings and discussions. Even though no definite decision was made, the Board of Education refrained from making any major improvements on the old HHS. Some of the minor ones included a new carpet in the upstairs hall and in one classroom.

Mr. Bray has now completed four years as superintendent of District 410.

Mr. Crum, principal of H.H.S., studies past problems, experiences present problems, and looks ahead to future problems.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION, which consists of Dalmer Kaufman, Dr. Delmer Reimer, Paul Lange, Jerry Plenert, Eli Suderman, Keith Bray, Dr. Dean Klierer, Dena Hawkins, and Norene Hein, meets every other week to discuss and make decisions on problems concerning the schools in District 410. One of the main topics this year was a new high school.

Donna Dalke is the secretary for the high school. A large portion of her time, during a busy day, is spent in the office.

Helping students is the object of a counselor in a high school. Art Balzer does just that for students of H.H.S.

Darlene Goertz is the school nurse for school district 410. She spends time in Hillsboro, Durham, Lehigh, and Suncrest.

Cynthia Canfield, the librarian for H.H.S., is looking for a magazine for a student.

Enrollment in Business Increases

Dictaphones, individualized bookkeeping, and career potential tests were all part of the Business program this year. The accounting class doubled in size from last year and the shorthand class tripled, showing the increasing interest in business and secretarial courses.

Individualized bookkeeping was a new idea this year. Each student had the chance to work as fast or as slow as he cared to.

William F. Weyman, Wichita Business College representative, came to the school to give an ability test, The Wonderlic Personnel Test, to the Business classes. Weyman was very impressed with the junior class scores.

The Business department received some new additions this year. These include a new dictaphone and three new typewriters.

Science Is Discovery

THE SCIENCE DEPARTMENT held many interesting ideas this year. Students participated in numerous field trips and other projects. One of the favorite times is dissecting worms and frogs. All students look forward to that.

For the second year, biology classes did a vegetable analysis of a native grassland and a well-grazed pasture and tried to determine reasons for the differences observed.

A new-direct-reading chemical kit was used by chemistry and biology students to determine the quantities of different substances in the water of local wells and streams.

Finding blood types also was one of the more interesting incidents. It always seems like the big tough guys are the ones that can't take it.

Games Add Fun to Math Classes

IF ANYONE can change the math class to be a bit more interesting, Mr. Sextro can. This year he had the great idea of using playing cards to determine the seating arrangement. Each seat had a certain card number and after calling your name, he drew a card and the seat with that number was yours until the next time he decided to change it.

There were some other changes in the math department. The Freshman math class used programmed materials for their studying, and also used some games to make the class more enjoyable.

With eleven leaks in the ceiling, Mrs. Voth, math teacher, finally made it through the year. The room was rightly labeled the "swim room".

Experience Provided in Job Class

VOCATIONAL ARTS included many things this year; small engines, auto mechanics, general metals, and vocational agriculture. More emphasis was put on how things we do relate to industry, and how developed fixtures are necessary for mass production.

The classes were changed this year to a more independent kind of study, where students sort of worked on their own. What the students really learned most was that both quality and quantity are very important in production.

Girls, Boys Economical Creators

ANTIQUING CLASS was about the newest thing that happened this year. It proved to the students that discarded furniture could be made beautiful and useful with just a little bit of work.

Clothing construction was very popular this year, running between 120 and 130 different girls and boys in the class during the year. The course on wedding plans ran a close second in popularity.

In cooking, the students have found it very interesting to select recipes and see them develop into real creative dishes. Students also were very much aware of the rise in prices of foods.

AHG Uses Uni-packs for Course

THE NEWEST IDEA this year in AHG was the uni-pack. At the beginning of each nine weeks, the students would get a learning packet which outlined the work to do. The student's grade was their own responsibility. They were the sole blame if they received a grade lower than they wanted.

Psychology and Sociology were also a part of the Social Science program this year. Both courses proved very successful and enjoyable.

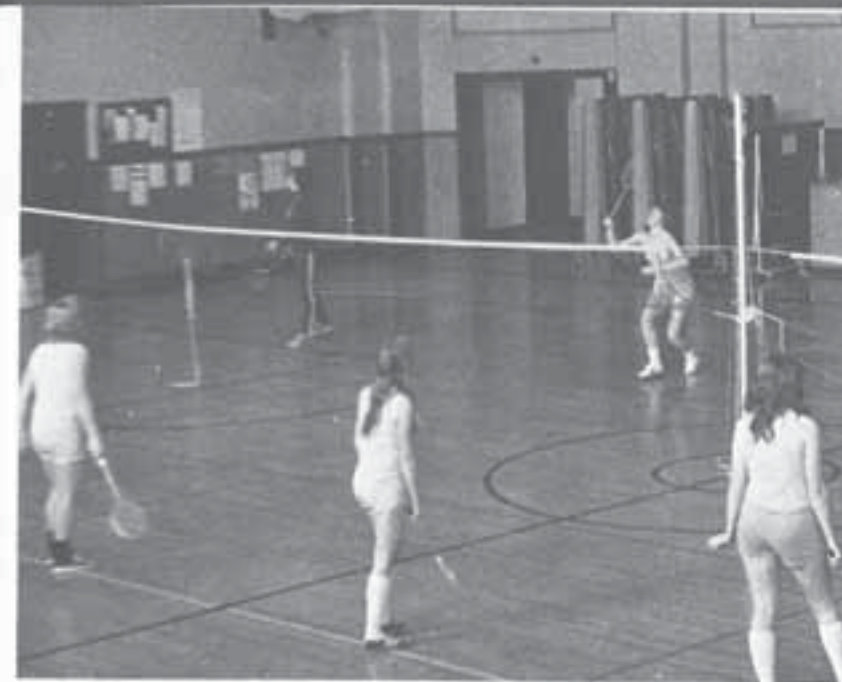

One unusual thing did happen in AHG. The class re-lived the 1860 election, and it turned out that Lincoln lost and Breckenridge won. Those games never seemed to work out quite right, anyway.

P.E. Adds New Games to Classes

NEW GAMES and ideas were all part of the P. E. program this year. The game Buck-Buck was a popular one for the boys. Many bruises and sores developed from that game.

New ideas were used in freshman classes. More use was made of the classroom situation. The girls used this for studying First Aid. An ambulance, dummy, and reports were all included in the First Aid program.

What the students learned most was the importance of enjoying leisure time and the skills necessary to enjoy it. They also learned social standards as applied to activities.

P. E. is a good place for humor but because most kids aren't trying to be funny and might get embarrassed, no names will be mentioned. However, the P. E. classes this year did hold a lot of laughs and good times.

English Is Changing, Classes Become Modern

ONE OF THE BIGGEST EVENTS this year was the course Jew in Literature. The class put on a Jewish dinner including lamb meat. A tour of the Temple Emanuel was also in the schedule. The students really got a better knowledge of Jewish customs and problems.

Comic Imagination was also a highlight. The classes made humorous movies with emphasis on America's own particular brand of humor.

A pinata party was quite a novelty in the Melting Pot class. Other classes learned how to kill a cyclops, and unravel the carpet with their desks.

In a reading class, one student was able to increase his speed of reading by 3600/minute.

Languages Add Classes

Foreign Languages

The Foreign Language Department expanded its program this year, giving the students an option of four different languages; German, Spanish, French, and Russian.

A new feature in the foreign language section was the use of folk songs accompanied by organ music and records. The organ was bought by Pat Ehrig, foreign language teacher, for private and public use.

Both French I and II went to a French contest for the first time this year. Barb Regier, Sandy Regier, and Lynette Medley, all received a I in poetry. A group of girls put on a skit and received a II. A group from Paris was there to put on a play for the schools. Although the French I class did not understand a lot of the words, they sure got a lot of the action.

To add interest to his classes Mr. Ehrig uses an organ. RIGHT: Lynette Medley, Sandy Regier, Carol Kliewer, Barb Regier, and Terri Groening are in the midst of rehearsal for their play for French contest. BELOW: Kelly Unruh seems very intent on studying his Spanish.

Fine Arts a Showcase for Student Expression

"MUSIC IS AN ART which is enjoyed individually; and an art in which each individual sets his own standards of beauty or appreciation." -- Mr. Huddleston.

HHS students are blessed with real musical talent. Some students are writing music--excellent music. The talented students are too numerous to mention. This is most unusual for a town of this size.

Great talent also lies within the art department. The art classes had a lot more freedom this year, in choice of art projects, including Art I students.

DIFFERENT PROJECTS ranged from decoupage to latchhook rug-making, and from inkleloom to clear cast. Leather projects were one of the most popular among the students.

Numerous fires started from candle-making, and it sure looked funny to see kids running around with leather dyed fingers. The odor from making clear cast was also something never to be forgotten.

Students learned that being creative can be a lot of fun and quite useful.

Special Ed. Kids Prepare Dinner

FOR THE first time this year, the boys in Special Education had the opportunity to develop their cooking skills. After weeks of learning some basic rules in cooking, they became bold enough to try cooking a large meal. The class took on the job of preparing a meal for the high school teachers and board members.

At this time, 32 invitations were typed up and sent out. The dinner, consisting of wild duck, pheasant, and wall-eyed pike, was a real success.

One of the most unusual things that happened was making garbage-can candles. No two candles ever could look alike. Some candles looked like plants and others looked like pastel colored clouds.

ORGANIZATIONS

"Wait until you see the other side."

Band Adds Sparkle With Program Variety

THE BAND was quite busy this year marching, playing at school, and performing at special occasions. The year started with a performance at a Memorial Day Service. Doug Huddleston, drum major, led the band with a splendid show at the Hillsboro Fair and then at the State Fair in Hutchinson.

The band had a beautiful performance at the HHS Football Homecoming. They went through some formations honoring the queen-to-be with a song at the completion of each formation. Each song depicted a part of the queen's life: social life, home life, church life, and so on.

The school band also took part in the Fourth of July concert in Peabody. The music added so much to the glory and sparkle of the occasion. Participation in three other instrumental concerts was also part of the band program. These included a performance at the Peabody High School. A musical festival was planned for the end of school.

Stage, Pep Band Entertain for Events

Both stage and pep band were quite active this year. They performed at many occasions and did a very good job.

Stage band put on two concerts during the year. One of these was a home concert in Hillsboro, and the other was a special concert at Peabody.

The pep band supplied the music for every home game throughout the football and basketball seasons. Also, a group of students which really made up the pep band, played on Memorial Day. As Mr. Huddleston would say, "We played for the graveyard circuit."

Instrumental Groups Rate 'I' at Contest

There were three solos that received number one ratings at contest. They were: Nadine Abrahams (Flute), Ricki Wiebe (Flute) and Cyndy Simonson (French Horn).

Nadine performed at many different places and occasions during the year including the Baccalaureate service. Ricki also did her share of playing for clubs and churches and did a good job playing for the Commencement activities. Cyndy was also active with using her talents at church services and the like.

Two instrumental ensembles received one ratings at contest also. These were the brass sextet and the flute trio.

The brass sextet consisted of Lynette M., Paul J., Doug H.,

Cyndy S., Marv S., and Larry F. The group played at church services and at a special Christmas service.

Three girls making up the flute trio were Nadine A., Ricki W., and Lori G. The trio played at two church services and at a women's club.

Chorus Schedule Varied and Full

MIXED CHORUS is the combined talent of the best singers from Girl's and Men's Choruses. With all that talent, it's got to be something great, and it sure is.

One of the biggest and newest things the Mixed Chorus did was the Jazz Mass. A mass, as you well know, is originally a Catholic church service. So a jazz mass is an ancient liturgical church service written in jazz medium, usually accompanied by instruments. The Mixed Chorus performed this Jazz Mass in one of their many concerts performed at the school and elsewhere. It was truly one of their best productions.

Some other performances included singing at various schools and at the Hillsboro M. B. Church.

"Down in the Valley" was another great production put on by Mixed Chorus this year. "Down in the Valley" is a small opera about the story of a prisoner and his lover back home whom he risks his life to see. The Mixed Chorus performed this very well, using some of the best musical talent the school had.

Point System a StuCo Success

STUCO THIS year proved successful in some ways and unsuccessful in other ways. One of their main successes was getting all the clubs and the points system straightened out. Each club was supposed to have a constitution and some clubs failed to reach this requirement, so they were not counted as a club until a constitution was written. The point system was also an issue. Each officer had a certain number of points depending on which position he held. But one single person could only hold a specific amount of points. This caused some shifting around of officers, but soon everything was going as normal again.

StuCo tried the idea of putting up a suggestion box where students could write in some suggestions they thought could improve the school. This seemed to work for awhile until the box started to fill up with trash. Maybe that was supposed to mean something. They also tried to get Dr. Pepper in the pop machine but found the expense too high. The idea of a carnival also came up but kind of dropped due to lack of cooperation within StuCo.

Football Homecoming was one of StuCo's best efforts. The show and party were sponsored by StuCo and really went over well.

Life, flair, and enthusiasm describe this year's B-team cheerleaders. FROM TOP TO BOTTOM THEIR NAMES ARE: Sandra Martens, Debbie Donahue, Trudy Ebel, and Coleen Hagen.

The freshman cheerleading squad this year consists of Carole Funk, Jeanne McCarty, and Andrea Ratzlaff. These three support the Freshman athletes throughout the whole year.

As head cheerleader, Lynette Medley is responsible for many things such as Pep Assemblies.

THE A-SQUAD THIS YEAR, TOP ROW: Rene Feil, Karen Mohn; BOTTOM ROW: Lynette Medley, Eydie Matz, and Marolyn Ollenburger, are always looking for something different to add enthusiasm.

Jumping is very important for a cheerleader. They must learn to do many jumps all with great ease and grace. Here Debbie Donahue demonstrates that grace.

Spirit Promoted by Cheerleaders

The cheerleaders of 1972-73 had a lot of new ideas and new cheers. They went to an all day clinic at Southeast High School where they learned many new cheers, chants, and stunts. They used these to promote spirit throughout the student body and at games.

Many new ideas were used at pep rallies. The cheerleaders tried to get some spirit worked up and sometimes it was discouraging when the students didn't respond.

A lot of work and time went into this year's squad. They practiced all summer, two nights a week, and they worked hard on pep rallies. They also spent a good deal of time on new uniforms to add some pep and spirit to the year.

Pep Club Changes Rules for 1972-73

The biggest thing that happened this year in Pep Club was the changing of traditional rules and regulations. The main thing was the uniforms. The only uniforms they had were gold T-shirts with a red trojan on it. These weren't limited only to the Pep Club, but the majority of school kids bought them too.

Pep Club was in charge of Basketball homecoming and the mixer afterwards. Both turned out real well and were lots of fun.

Other things included in the Pep Club schedule were numerous poster parties which helped to boost the spirit of all the students.

H-Club Entertains at Sports Banquet

The main event in H-Club was the sports banquet. The club performed three skits at the second annual sports banquet. The first one consisted of a series of jokes like on Laugh-in. Then, by popular demand, they had the return of the "Whistler". As a finale, the H-Club chorus sang "The Cover of the Athletic Journal" the words of which were created by members of the club.

H-Club sold chocolates for a fund-raising project during the Christmas and New Year season.

The club also had a part in working at the concession stands for the football and basketball games.

FHA Has Busy Year

FHA was really busy this year, going to meetings, parties, and having all sorts of good times.

Going to conferences was a part of their busy program. These included a district FHA meeting at Sterling, and a state conference in Topeka.

Selling cook books was one of their main money making projects. These cook books had recipes from all parts of America and a little story to go along with each one.

FHA had some visitors come in and show them a few things. Mrs. Wilbur Fast came and told them all about cake decorating. A special visitor, June Suderman, came to talk about the work she did in Viet Nam.

FHA also planned some service projects, one of which was visiting the old people at Parkside Homes.

FFA Is First in Poultry

THE PROGRAM for FFA was really loaded this year. The year was filled with contests and meetings which they did quite well at.

One of the best times was the poultry contest in Arkansas City. The FFA Boys took a first in the contest. Some other contests they were involved in was a dairy judging contest in Newton, and a farm mechanics contest in Arkansas City. Another event was going to a leadership school in Buhler.

FFA had a real nice banquet this year. They had as their speaker, Rod Nulir, the vice president of state FFA. The banquet was a real success.

One of their more fun times was joining FHA at a skating party. The Future Farmers of America fit in quite nicely with the future Homemakers of America.

New Club Shares Joy With Others

Outreach started out the year with a fun-filled camp out at the Springfield Recca-Rama between Lehigh and Goessel. The visiting speaker was Mrs. Barb Ratlaff.

The group gave programs both at the Peabody Home for the Aged and at Parkside. They made fifty "cookie plates" to give to the old folks at Parkside.

Twenty-five girls participated in a cerebral palsy drive and received a plaque from the association. Some kids also participated in a bike-hike at the request of Mr. Ball. The bike-hike was to raise money for the Retarded Children Association.

Cookie sales on Valentine's Day were also a part of the busy program. A real large cookie was bid on and bought by Mr. Frazier for $1.50.

CAROL GUHR CAREFULLY CHECKS a pan of special Valentine cookies. These cookies were decorated and later sold to the student body as a money making project.

Key Club Enjoys Successful Year

This year's Key Club was quite successful in many ways. For one, this was the first year in many that the club actually made more money than they spent. The Key Club held a car wash and wax to make enough money to pay for the dues, and they made even more. So, they decided to have a party with the left-over money. The party was a great success and a lot of fun. "People will remember the party for some time, HA! HA!" says Reggie Matz, president. What he meant by that, only the Key Club members will ever know.

Spring Fling Big Success

Towards the end of the year, the Oracle and Trojan staff put on a Spring Fling. The whole student body met at the city park for an afternoon of races, games, and food.

The afternoon started with a water balloon fight between classes. Next came the eating contest, sack races, talking contest and the egg toss.

Then came the tubing races. A bunch of kids got inner tubes and raced across both ponds and back again. The last of the events was the tug-of-war which was won by Key Club.

The evening ended with a picnic supper and many incidents and accidents to remember for a long time.

Class for Publications

The Oracle and yearbook staff was in a combined class this year, and worked together to improve both. At the start of the year, the class went to Manhattan for a journalism clinic at K-State. The sessions there were quite interesting and very beneficial.

Joanna Wiebe, a feature writer for the EAGLE-BEACON, came to talk to the class and gave some hints on how to improve. The staff used these hints and each issue was better than the last.

The yearbook staff raised a lot of money this year so they were able to add twenty more pages to the yearbook than last year's. It was a pretty good year for both staffs with eight good issues of the Oracle and an improved yearbook.

Kayettes Have a Progressive Meal

This year's Kayette organization was busy with many activities. At the beginning of the year, the Kayettes painted teachers' names on the curbing to reserve places for them. For one of the fall meetings, Mrs. Rachel Epp gave a program on perfumes and colognes.

For a money-making project, the Kayettes sold candy bars and fruit cakes for the Holiday season.

At Christmas time they designed and painted coffee mugs for the teachers. They also held a party for the Special Ed. students. During April, a progressive supper was held with a five course meal. Each course was in a room depicting a certain country with the decorations and food from that country.

The Kayettes also collected contributions for the heart fund and participated in the Bike Hike for the mentally retarded.

MR. BALZER, COUNSELOR, uses the coffee cup made by the Kayettes as a pencil holder during enrollment.

Chess Club Formed and Successful

The greatest thing that happened in Chess Club was simply that a Chess Club was formed. The club was a new idea and since it started, chess has become what you may call a new fad. The club had championship games and the winner could possibly have his name put on a plaque. The tournament was a four-round Swiss system.

Plans for the next year have already been started and there might be a chance of going to tournaments held in Wichita and other places.

The Chess Club did very well for a brand new club and probably will continue to do so in the future.

Debaters Handicapped by Illness

Debate, which had usually been just a club, was a class this year directed by Doug Frazier. Four people joined debate and these were Doug H., J. Schmidt, Paul J., and Randy Rediker.

The debate group attended only one meet due to illness within the group. Because of this, they did not have a chance to prove their worthiness which they really deserved.

The purpose of the Photography Club was to organize the photographers of the school for the betterment and support of the photography at HHS.

The club did two money-making projects, one of which was selling license plates with a Trojan on it.

FOR A SMALL DEBATE team, they had a lot of enthusiasm as expressed on Doug Huddleston's face.

THE DEBATE TEAM, Randy Rediker, Doug Huddleston, Paul Jost and Jim Schmidt, proudly sport their new attache cases.

Forensics Means Effort, Success

Forensics was a new class this year in HHS. It was a group of fourteen students who went to different contests to put on drama productions. At a speech and drama clinic, "The Informer", a one-act play, was presented and criticized. This same play later received a first division rating in the state contest.

The Forensics class went to some district festivals where they did quite well. Gail Stotts received an award for the best bit-player in a production. Duet acting, with Doug H. and Jim S., received a first and second in district contests and later a second division rating in the state.

ACTIVITIES

"At times I feel like high school is one rehearsal after another."

THE WEATHER might be cold but Glenn Suderman, Roland Winter, Gary Nuss, and Reggie Matz will keep Becky Goertz, Susan Plett, Janet Pankratz, and Lynette Medley warm.

THE EXCITEMENT of the game and of being crowned Football Homecoming queen is glowing in the eyes of Janet Pankratz.

GARY NUSS, President of Student Council and a member of H-Club, is Janet Pankratz's escort. Janet is Vice President of the Choral Committee, President of Outreach, and is very active in girls sports.

Janet Pankratz, Queen, Sparkled All Night Long

THE BAND WAS MOVING through all their well-planned songs and formations. The tension and curiosity grew. Finally all the candidates were neatly placed in the center of a big heart formed by the band. Looking at the people involved, we see Becky Goertz, Lynette Medley, Janet Pankratz, and Susan Plett. The junior attendants were Eydie Matz and Andrea Ratzlaff.

As the crowd hushed and quieted down, Janet's name rang through the air. The crowd cheered as Janet came walking off the field wearing her crown and carrying a dozen roses.

"I just grinned a lot," said Janet and she was so right. Her face sparkled all during the game and carried on right until after the mixer, which had been planned,

Marolyn Is Queen for Big Night

THE FIVE candidates, Lynn Breese, Diane Wiens, Marolyn Ollenburger, Debbie Schlichting, and Rhonda Seibel, stood patiently with their escorts, waiting for the final word. When Marolyn's name was called, a cheer of approval rose from the audience. Marolyn, in her pink ruffled dress, walked across the floor to take her place in the "Sweetheart's" chair.

The processional and entertainment music was played by Pat Ehrig on the organ.

The guys really played well at the game defeating Remington with great strength and ability. To end the occasion, the student body was invited to a get together at the school. There the Commitment from Tabor put on a program for everyone to enjoy.

HHS Gives 3 One-Acts

INSTEAD OF having one large production, the school put on three one-act plays. These were "Down in the Valley," "The Informer," and "Overtones."

"Down in the Valley" is a melodramatic folk opera which was put on by mixed chorus. The play is noted for the eloquence of music and the universality of its emotional comeback.

"The Informer" is a tragedy set in Ireland. The play deals mainly with one person and her realization of the situation portrayed.

"Overtones" is a satirical sketch involving two rivals who have not seen each other for some time. The play works with the consciousness of each rival who actually wants to get something from the other and knows she eventually will.

All three plays were a big success and were very well performed.

'Jones' at HHS

The life of the most famous foundling in literary history was presented on May 10, 11, and 12 in a hilarious and wildly probable play written by Henry Fielding. It's a great classic of comedy and high spirits showing the uproarious adventures, the alarms, and the happy escapades of young Tom Jones and his Sophia.

The play was the last one that would be directed by Douglas Frazier at HHS. His work was very much appreciated and this last play was really a great way of saying good-bye.

Yuletide Is Madrigals

A Madrigal Dinner was a big production this year, put on by Mixed Ensemble. The Production was performed at Christmas time in old English style, complete with costumes and scenery. The menu consisted mainly of Roast Beef with Yorkshire pudding and Plum Pudding.

The evening started with a toast to the Christmas season with Hot Wassail. A boar's head procession followed, accompanied by singing from the Mixed Ensemble. The audience was entertained by a court jester doing acrobatics and tricks, and Roving Minstrels, who sang festive tunes.

After the meal, a Madrigal concert was given. To top off a successful evening, Mr. Jensen, the producer, was awarded a plaque by Mrs. Harold Wiebe from the Pride Committee.

"Little Big Man" Shown at Banquet

"Precious and Few" was the theme at the Junior-Senior banquet, honoring the class of '73. As one walked into the banquet room, there was a bridge to be crossed which stretched over a small stream containing live gold fish. At the end of the stream was a fountain which added effectively to the theme.

After the meal of turkey and other delights, the movie "Little Big Man" was shown and enjoyed by all who were present.

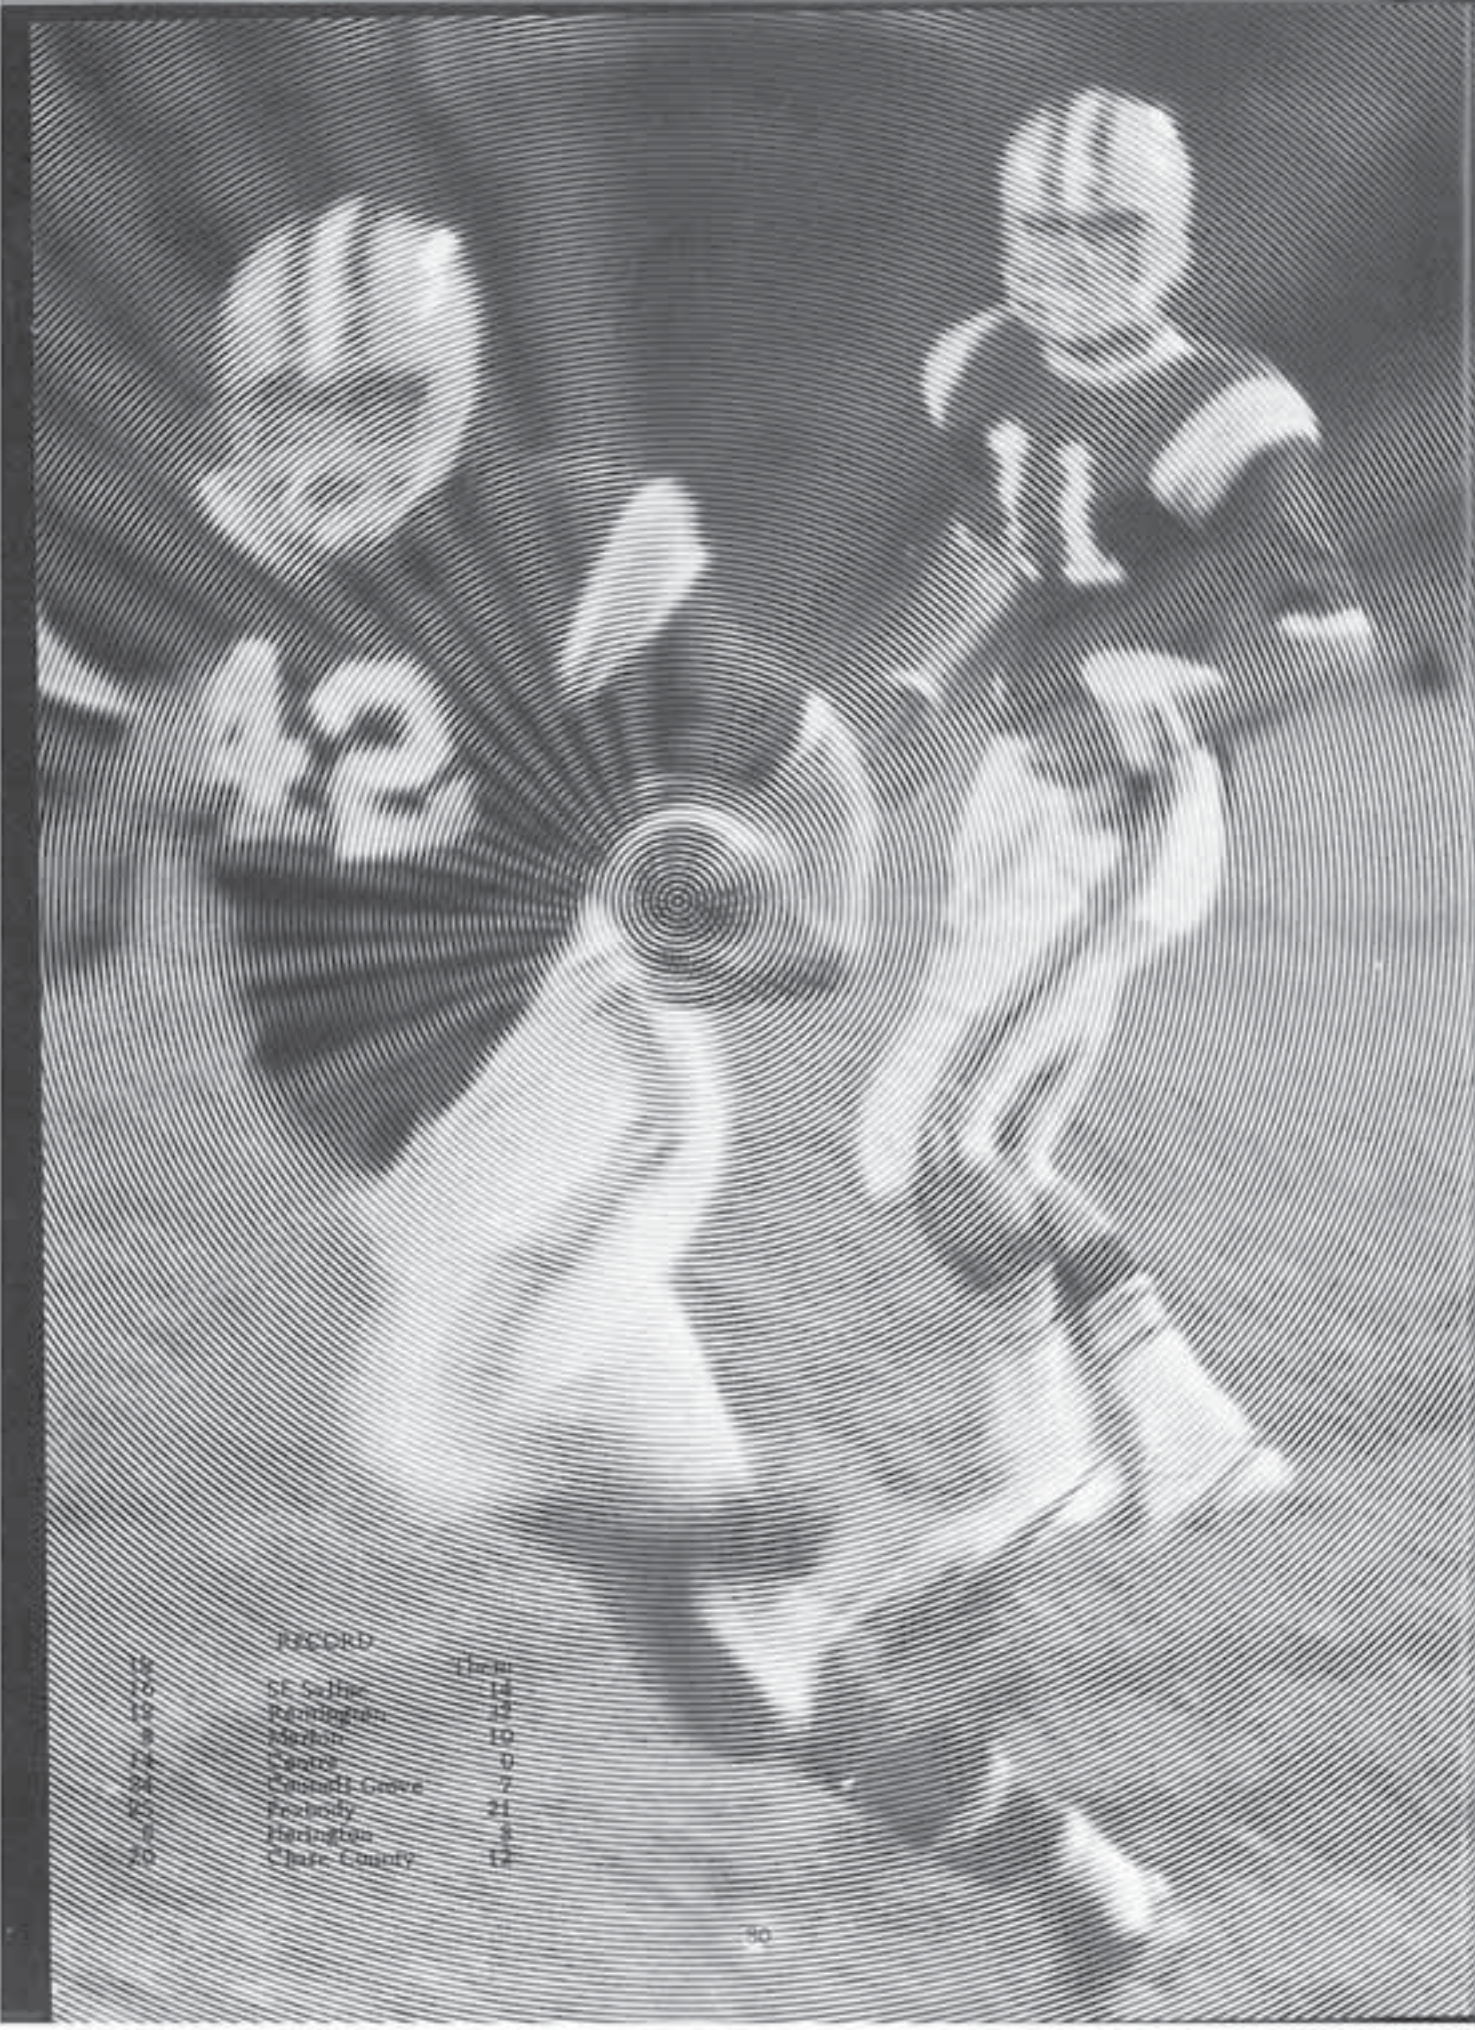

UPPER LEFT: Teresa Youk, Glen Pankratz, Terri Groening, and Laurel Bernhardt paste up the murals. UPPER RIGHT: Mr. and Mrs. Canfield are illuminated in candle light. Varsity Team Struggles to Achieve 5-3 Season

The HHS Trojans started the season with a close game but a great win over Southeast of Saline. The next two games were a bit of a let-down, but the mighty Trojans came back to win the next three games. The seventh game was a two point loss, but the season ended just as well as it started with the Trojans defeating Chase County and making the final tally 5-3. "The '72 season," said Coach Don Penner, "was one in which a few breaks could have resulted in our team finishing 7-1. The bounce of the ball could have made all the difference."

HHS' "BIG RED" defense and Chase County wrestle for the ball.

The B-team squad tallied three wins and three losses as they completed a year of good, hard football. They started their season with a loss to Moundridge, but they showed strength in the next three games. The last games were both losses for the Trojans as they fought hard but were defeated by Peabody and Remington.

This was a good year for the Freshmen football team with five great wins and only one loss. The season started with a 28-6 win followed by three more wins and a loss to Peabody. The Trojans ended the season defeating Remington.

Varsity Captures No. 1 Berth in CVL

The Basketball Season was a good one this year. The players put out a lot of good effort and time. The season ended with a 17-4 record which helped win the CVL.

The team had to use more of a continuity offense which made it a slower game with hardly any fast breaks.

"The season progressed like it should have with the exception of leadership at the end of the year," --Coach Hanson

J. Varsity Successfully Defends Title

THE B-TEAM really did well this year. All the players played as well as they possibly could have and really proved to be a strong team.

The thing that was quite different this year was the switching of players. The same five players didn't start all the time and there was a lot of changing between the varsity and junior varsity teams.

The season ended with an overtime win over Marion, turning the championship of the CVL over to the JV's.

Freshman Post Promising 10-1 Record

The Freshman Team went through the entire season this year with a single loss. That's got to show something for the future basketball teams of HHS. The season ended with a 10-1 record being defeated only by Chase County.

Two players that really did well were Steve Reimer and Byron Lange-- future stars of HHS.

The HHS track team this year really did a fantastic job. Darrel Just broke the school record in the two-mile with a time of 10:27.7, and Tom Frantz broke the league record in high jump, clearing the pole at 6'1".

The Regional meet turned out pretty well. The mile relay team really did a good job, coming out first and qualifying for state.

The sign-up sheet filled up fast as high-spirits grew for the intramural season. Forty-five guys were soon divided into eight teams. Each team was then asked to give themselves a title. Imaginations grew and titles like "Snakes Mistakes" and "Terries Cherries" came up.

The games started out with a bang and many different techniques were used; five step lay-ups, pant pulling, running with the ball, and half-court hook shots. Many times, due to unforeseen circumstances, players were unable to participate. Instead of just forfeiting the game, faculty and other team members were used as substitutes.

The season ended with a close victory for "Becker's Wreckers."

HHS Tennis Wins First at Lindsborg Triangular

The tennis team this year did exceptionally well compared to the past years. This year was the first in 36 years we received a first place trophy.

The year started out with a loss to El Dorado but from then on the record really rose. The first place trophy was won at Lindsborg triangular meet. The tennis team also won meets with Buhler and Fairfield and received a fourth place at the Ellsworth tourney.

The biggest thing this year was sending one person to state. Mark Reimer went to state and won his first round against a boy from Ottawa who was seated eighth. Mark hadn't been seated at all so this was a minor upset. For his second round, Mark played a boy from Winfield and Mark was defeated. This boy later came out with first place, so Mark had been defeated by the top player in the state.

THE DETERMINATION and spark of the girl's basketball team really outweighed the record that finished their season. The B-team showed remarkable improvements as the year progressed, considering that none had had any previous experience.

The biggest event of girl's basketball was the night they beat Sedgwick who was rated third in the region. We were rated sixth and moved all the way up to fourth place. A season is always worth it if improvement is shown.

Girls Volleyball Team Gains Strength

IT WAS a good season for volleyball. Winning a great majority of the games, the girls showed their strength and ability in playing the game.

The B-team was naturally quite weak due to lack of experience and overall know-how. But as the season progressed the ability of the players improved and the inexperienced were now experienced and ready to fight.

Golf Team Wins Fourth at Marion

This year's golf team consisted of about eleven students. The team attended around twelve meets and really didn't do too badly. The team usually finished about in the middle at the meets. At the Marion Invitational, though, we received fourth place which was really good considering that it was a big meet.

The HHS golf team won a dual against Centre, 8 to 1. They also won a two-man competition at a Peabody triangular meet.

It wasn't an extremely good year for the golf team but they really had some good times.

FIRST ROW: M. Ens, M. Brennan, R. Ens, T. Brennan, F. Horn, S. Jamison. SECOND ROW: J. Ens, J. Schmidt, S. Rempel, D. Huddleston, R. Rediker, R. Prieb, Mr. Stotts.

CLOCKWISE FROM ABOVE: Robert Ens relaxes a few minutes before going on. Doug Huddleston turns in after a competitive meet. Scott Jamison prepares to move on after he has hit his ball. Steve Rempel gets into the swing as the golf meet goes on.

Medals Won by 2 HHS Track Girls

The girls' track team participated in quite a few meets this year. They never came out on top, but they didn't do badly.

At the Remington meet, Rachel Schultz received a third place medal for the hurdles. Grace Jaworsky also received a third in shot put at one meet. The team consisted of only five people, so they did all right considering their size.

Rachel Schultz, Grace Jaworsky and Becky Born went to regionals this year. Even though they didn't get anything, they had a lot of fun.

LEFT TO RIGHT: BECKY BORN impatiently but anxiously waits for the race to start. GRACE JAWORSKY uses all her strength to throw the shot put. CAROL KIEWER prepares to leap in the broad jump.

FIRST ROW: B. Born, R. Schultz, C. Kiewer. SECOND ROW: Miss Wilhelm, coach; G. Jaworsky; R. Wiebe; R. Schultz, manager.

While walking down the aisle to get my diploma,
Many things were going through my mind.
The thoughts of the future were moving through so fast I couldn't handle them.
All the people in the room were watching me.

I was feeling the nothingness of a vacuum and the fullness of nature.
As a graduate I was looking forward to the richness of life.
Only, I didn't realize what I was doing.
Then it struck me.
We were being sent out into the world on our own.
To do what we could with what we had been taught.

But I knew something was wrong.
I was supposed to be going out into the world to make it a better place to live.
But we hadn't even made school a friendly place,
let alone a better place.

Daily I watched people take ridicule and be prejudiced against,
Kids pushed around in the hall.
And me, the person against all prejudice, on the wrong end of the pushing.
It didn't take long for me to figure out how unworthy
I was of the diploma.
I hadn't learned what I needed to know.

But I wasn't alone,
My entire class was trying to say they were worthy.
It's just not so.
So I present my life, my class, and all my people as a failure.

Until we are able to overcome our bias, we will not even have started to be educated.
Education begins with people.
Knowing them and understanding their motives and feelings.
Can give us the information we need to overcome ourselves.

When we know these things we can truly be educated.
