This staff of diligent journalists hopes that you may deduce that our entire cosmos is replete with nebulous, ameboid terms, which can only aid us in becoming truly autonomous individuals. If we anthropomorphize these ethereal terms into lucid, viable and loquasious, elocutions that can only have relevence if we learn to: firstly, develop our manipulative ability of our dialectic vocabulary, and secondly, realize the jollity and mirth derived from the seemingly the lugubrious aspect of semantics, which is not accomplished by indolence, procrastination or indifference, but by the complete development of the cognitive and affective awareness that occurs under the pedagog's trenchant presence as you forge ahead in your preceptive aspiration for clarity and acuity which evidently is not the purpose of this inexhorably long sentence which asks you only to speak good.
